87 Escape In Two Pacific Plane Mishaps

1 Ohio Woman Only Victim In Philippines

MANILA (AP)—Two airliners carrying a total of 88 persons crashed almost simultaneously in Philippine waters at opposite ends of the island chain before dawn today. An Ohio woman was killed. All the others survived.

First, a Philippine Airlines DC3 ditched near Dumaguete, off Negros Island in the south. Bad weather had prevented its scheduled landing at Zamboanga City on a flight from Manila, and the plane ran out of gas. The 27 passengers and 3 crewmen all reached shore safely.

Eight minutes later a crippled Northwest Orient Airlines DC7C, its left wing afire, ditched off the Polillo Islands 85 miles northwest of Manila with 58 persons. The plane sank seven minutes after it was ditched.

U.S. military amphibious planes picked up the 57 survivors and the woman's body and brought them to Manila.

The American airliner had been approaching Manila as its final stop in a flight from New York via Seattle, Anchorage, Tokyo and Okinawa.

Rescue planes sighted signal flares on the water near the crash scene, put down, and taxied up to the survivors huddled on four rafts.

A rescue pilot said the water was so rough that the rafts had to be towed to a cove so the survivors could be loaded on the five planes.

The Northwest survivors were flown to Manila's International Airport and the U.S. Naval Base at Sangley Point, on Manila Bay. They arrived eight hours after the crash. Most were able to walk to ambulances. They were driven to hospitals.

The dead woman was identified by an airline spokesman as Mrs. Glyde Kelley, 52, of Springfield, Ohio. He said she was born in Winfield, Kan., Oct. 12, 1907. Her body was found floating in the water.

U.N. Speeds Military Force To Restore Order In Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Security Council early today approved Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld's plan to speed a stopgap U.N. military force drawn mostly from African nations to the new republic of The Congo in an effort to keep it from collapsing into anarchy.

Immediately after the council acted, the secretary general assured that first steps to put the force together would be taken "in a couple of hours." Initial elements of the force were expected to be in the central African country before the end of the week.

Approval of U.N. intervention came at an emergency 6 1/2-hour session of the council that did not adjourn until 3:24 a.m. Hammarskjöld called the meeting after receiving urgent requests from The Congo government for U.N. aid.

For a time it appeared that his plea for quick action would be stymied by a dispute over the future of Belgian troops that intervened in The Congo after the native army had mutinied against its Belgian officers and gone on a rampage of violence and pillage.

But the council rejected Soviet demands that it condemn Belgium as an armed aggressor in Congo, seek immediate withdrawal of the troops, and stipulate that the U.N. military force be restricted to troops from African countries.

Then, by a vote of 8-0 with 3 abstentions, the council approved a Tunisian resolution calling for withdrawal of the Belgian troops without setting any definite date and authorizing Hammarskjöld to take the necessary steps for dispatch of the U.N. force.

Britain, France and Nationalist China abstained, opposing the direct call for withdrawal of the Belgian troops as an implied censure they said was not warranted.

Car Hits Home In Damascus

Three Persons Hurt In Other Accidents

A home in Damascus was considerably damaged shortly after noon Wednesday when a parked car rolled from its parking place on Rt. 62 and into the front of the house.

State Highway Patrolmen said the residence is owned by David Weaver. They said the accident is still under investigation as the driver of the car is as yet unidentified.

Patrolmen stated the car is owned by Koch Motors in Columbiana and that it was being given a try-out by a prospective buyer when the mishap occurred.

Hanoverman Man Hurt

In Salem City Hospital with a back injury is Dale McKarnes, 19, of RD 1, Hanoverman. Patrolmen said he was injured at 8:20 p.m. Wednesday when his car went out of control on County Road 416, about a mile and a half south of Leetonia, hit a utility pole and then knocked off a vertical gas line. This accident is also under investigation, patrolmen said.

John Miksec, 73, of RD 1, New Springfield, was charged with driving left of center after his car went out of control a mile east of Columbiana, left the road, crashed a fence into a junk yard and hit a junked automobile. The mishap occurred at 5 p.m.

Charged with improper passing was Mrs. Hazel Laughlin, 52, of East Liverpool, after she attempted to pass a truck driven by Emmett Johnson, 59, also of East Liverpool, on Rt. 7, three and a half miles south of Rogers. Patrolmen said she sideswiped the truck while passing.

Her husband, Dale, 60, suffered a cut on the hand and a shoulder injury and was treated at East Liverpool City Hospital. The accident happened at 5 p.m.

Canfield Post Patrolmen report Tony Fazio, 58, of North Canton, escaped injury at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday when he braked his car on Rt. 165 and slid into a one-lane bridge and a guard rail a mile and a half west of Rt. 45.

The Mahoning County Post also reports a Jean Williams, 28, of Canfield, suffered head and body bruises when her car and one driven by Robert W. Reynolds, 30, of RD 1, Canfield, collided on Rt. 45 at Diehl Rd.

Patrolmen said both cars were northbound when Jean attempted to make a left turn into Diehl Rd. as Reynolds was passing at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday.

JOE WAGENHOUSER

Veteran Mail Carrier Once Used Horse and Buggy

Rural Carrier Has 44-Year Record

Joe Wagenhouser to End Long Mail Career

A 44-year career in the U.S. Postal service will close July 31 for Joe Wagenhouser, RD 4, Salem, who is now 66.

Mr. Wagenhouser, who started in the days when postal service sometimes resembled the Pony Express, has been working out of the Salem Post Office since 1937 and in that period has carried nothing but Rural Route 4.

When he joined the rural office in 1916 in Leetonia, most rural carriers were still using the horse and buggy and in some cases — on rainy days and very muddy days — just the horse.

In the years 1916 through 1925, Mr. Wagenhouser "went through" 10 to 12 horses, even though part of that time was spent in driving the route in a car.

ONE OF the most memorable mishaps to occur during his days on the horse routes occurred when the horse was frightened by a truck and bolted, leaving the main part of the wagon body and its driver behind.

In 1919, Mr. Wagenhouser purchased his first car and made extensive use of the "modern" conveyance through the summer, and parts of the spring and fall months. But through 1925, most of the winter work was carried on by horse and buggy.

Even though the car was used much of the time, he recalls that most of the farmers still had to standby with the team of horses to frequently rescue the mailman from a deep wet mire.

Growth of RD 4, Salem, has been considerable since he first started carrying the route, but most of the changes have been in the shortening and lengthening of the route.

U.S. Accepts Soviet Challenge On Plane Flights

Battle to Decide Which Is Cause of Threats to Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bitter United Nations battle between the Soviet Union and the United States seemed assured today over the issue of which of the two great powers is responsible for threatening world peace.

The issue was sharply drawn Wednesday night when President Eisenhower accepted a Soviet challenge on U.S. aircraft flights and declared his determination to make a case "on the lawless actions and reckless threat of the Soviet government."

The challenge was hurled by the Soviet government when Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko a few hours earlier demanded an emergency session of the U.N. Security Council. In a cable to U.N. headquarters he charged the U.S. Air Force with aggressive activities against the Soviet Union and said they constitute a threat to the peace of the world.

In a statement from his R.I. headquarters at Newport, R.I., Eisenhower declared the United States is "ready and willing" to go to the Security Council for a full discussion of what he called the "wanting shooting down" by the Russians of an RB47 plane July 1.

The United States declared in a note to Moscow Tuesday that the plane was shot down over international waters at least 30 miles from the Soviet coast on the Barents Sea.

The Soviet Union had charged the previous day that the jet reconnaissance bomber had violated Soviet air space. A Soviet note to Washington linked the RB47 flight with the May Day U2 spy flight which went down in the Ural Mountains.

About the time that the President's statement was being released at Newport, a Soviet trawler which cruised close to the Atlantic coast last April was an electronic spy ship.

The Navy said the trawler Vega was engaged in bold reconnaissance activities. The craft showed up in the midst of tests being conducted by the U.S. nuclear submarine George Washington.

The Vega later cruised down the coast as close as 12 miles off Cape Henry, Va. The cape is at the approaches to the big U.S. Navy base and fleet anchorage in the Norfolk and Hampton Roads area.

The Navy statement apparently was intended as evidence of how the United States treats reconnaissance in waters off the United States.

Moscow Says It Can Prove Air Invasion

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio claimed today that the Soviet government has proof to show that the American reconnaissance plane shot down July 1 invaded Soviet air space.

The English-language broadcast, beamed to North America, claimed that the RB47 plane was equipped with guns and ammunition and was carrying "intelligence apparatus."

SENATOR JOHN F. KENNEDY
The Democrats' Choice for President

Buckeyes Give Biggest Undivided Bloc

Ohioans Plug for Symington As VP

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Elated Ohioans at the Democratic national convention plugged today for a Kennedy-Symington ticket. Buckeye delegates whooped it up because their 64 votes, that helped nominate Sen. John H. Kennedy for president, turned out to be the largest undivided bloc cast by any state. Four other states had more votes than Ohio but they split them among other aspirants. The Ohio delegation appeared about as solidly united in favor of a possible nomination of Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri for vice president.

State Chairman William L. Coleman called a caucus for 3:30 p.m. to poll delegates before nominations are offered for the second spot on the ticket.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, who predicted Kennedy's first ballot nomination by acclamation while some were skeptical, asserted that Symington as a running mate would assure a Democratic victory next November.

The governor reported failure in early efforts to induce Symington to drop out of the presidential race and declare for vice president. But he said after Kennedy's nomination that the second spot would go to the Missouri senator if he was acceptable to Kennedy.

On the way here from Columbus, DiSalle predicted Kennedy would win a first ballot nomination by 845 1/2 votes. The count Wednesday night stood at 309 before Missouri switched its 86 votes from Symington to Kennedy to make the total 845 in advance of acclamation.

"We are happy that Ohio was in the forefront of this sweeping victory," DiSalle said after Kennedy's nomination. "We will now begin our efforts to elect Senator Kennedy in November."

Before the voting at the convention, Ted Kennedy, a brother of the senator, told DiSalle the Ohio delegation was the strongest and most loyal in the senator's camp.

Southern Dems Angry, May Get Solace In VP

Symington May Be Choice; Kennedy Gets Total of 806 Votes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts held the cherished Democratic presidential nomination today.

But his roughshod ride over all opposition on the first ballot Wednesday night left some gaping holes in all parts of the United States" which he told a cheering convention he will lead into the November election.

In an attempt to placate angry Southerners threatening to walk out on the ticket, there were reports Kennedy might turn to Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri as his running mate.

Symington, who mustered 86 votes to Kennedy's winning 806, is regarded as acceptable to the South.

Informed sources said the new nominee's choice had been narrowed to Symington and Sen. Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson of Washington. Jackson was named by brother Robert Kennedy as his own personal favorite.

But there were some among the Kennedy strategists who urged that first refusal of the vice presidential nomination be given to Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

With Kennedy's guidance, the convention is expected to name the vice presidential nominee tonight. In a demonstration of power that surprised even his own leaders, Kennedy swept to a smashing first-ballot victory as the first Roman Catholic to be nominated for the presidency since Al Smith.

He rolled over Johnson, the South's choice, who collected only 409 votes. He left Adlai E. Stevenson, the darling of the sentimental and excited galleries, far behind with 79 1/2 scattered votes.

To win, Kennedy didn't need any of the 43 Gov. Robert B. Meyner, New Jersey kept in his corner, nor any of the 4 1/2 that were cast for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

The booming tallies of the big states, where the electoral college vote will count most in November, put Kennedy across in a convention that had accepted his nomination as an almost foreclosed matter and had little for delegates to shout about.

In the showdown, New York laid 104 1/2 votes on the line for the Massachusetts senator. Pennsylvania pitched in with 62, Ohio 64, Illinois 61 1/2, Michigan 42, Massachusetts 41, Indiana 34, and California 33 1/2.

Scattered votes—many of them from the West where Johnson believed he was strong—lifted Kennedy to his winning total.

But the South wanted none of the 43-year-old gladiator who had showed his elders among his opponents that by winning all the primaries in which he was entered and in tireless campaigning for more than two years he had forged a crushing machine.

Kennedy didn't get a single convention vote from Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas or Virginia. He harvested only 3 1/2 in Alabama and 6 in North Carolina.

All of this spelled trouble. And it was not long in coming. Gov. Price Daniel of Texas, angered by Johnson's defeat, put out a chilly statement that he would vote for the ticket headed by Kennedy but would not work for it.

Texas' 24 electoral votes—which went to President Eisenhower in 1952 and 1956—represent a prize Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be shooting for if he is the Republican nominee.

Comments of other Texans off-statement of the stinging Daniel's statement. House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, who championed Johnson, said he would support Kennedy.

Kennedy Clan's Campaign Pays Off with Nomination

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Kennedy clan—three generations of it—went to bat with money, sweat and stamina to get Sen. John F. Kennedy the Democratic presidential nomination.

Their team spirit got its start on the playing fields of Harvard. They found it could score for them in politics too.

Alongside Jack were Kennedys ranging from his multimillionaire father, Joseph P. Kennedy, ex-ambassador to Britain, to the family's 16 grandchildren.

Youthful Kennedy brothers visited coal mines, leaped from ski jumps and worked around the clock in primaries from New Hampshire to West Virginia.

His wife, mother and sisters presided at political teas and receptions, shook thousands of hands.

In-laws pitched in as well. Among these is movie actor Peter Lawford.

The subtle rules of the game left the ranking Kennedy clansman on the sidelines, though.

Joe Kennedy, 71, whose major ambition is to see his son president, kept out of the campaign front line and made no public speeches.

Jack and his aides reportedly thought it best for the controversial old man to stay on the sidelines, though they say he exerted "terrific" influence over Jack.

Joe Kennedy has his own political scars. He served as U.S. ambassador to Britain in the days of Monich and Adolf Hitler.

The elder Kennedy is still tagged with an isolationist label from those early World War II days when he tried to keep America out of the war "unless we are attacked."

Though he later lashed out at Nazi brutality and persecution, Kennedy said in 1938 that dictators and democratic countries, instead of hammering away at each other, should try to establish good relations. "We have to live together in the same world, whether we like it or not," he said.

Kennedy finally resigned as ambassador at the end of 1940.

Eight years ago, when son Jack launched his Senate career, father Joe tried to sever the cords of political inheritance.

Joe Kennedy declared he was "in complete disagreement with his son" on foreign policy. "I couldn't possibly have a worse argument with anyone about foreign policy than I have had with my son," he added.

He didn't make public speeches or campaign for his son. But even then he wore a deep blue tie with the silver inscription "Kennedy for President," a gift from friends.

The driving ambition of presidential candidate Kennedy doubtless comes from his Irish-Catholic father. Brought up in a moderately well-to-do Boston family, Joe Kennedy set out to be a millionaire by the time he was 35—and succeeded far ahead of schedule.

Today, Joe Kennedy's wealth, derived from banking, liquor, the motion picture industry, shipping and Wall Street interests, has been estimated in the tens of millions.

To each of his nine children—seven are still living—he said he gave a trust fund of "at least a million" each.

The Kennedy family, including all those married into it, are a tight-knit group. They are devout Catholics. Cardinals have officiated at their weddings.

When the clan gathers at the family summer home at Hyannis Port, Mass., on Cape Cod, athletics is usually the main interest. Pouch football has long been a favorite with them.

Joe Kennedy's four sons followed in his footsteps and were graduated from Harvard, where they starred at baseball, football or swimming.

His five daughters were educated in Catholic schools, convents and colleges.

All but the eldest daughter, Rosemary, who teaches in a convent school, are married and have children.

The Kennedy clan has politics in its blood. Jack's grandfather, Patrick J. Kennedy, started out running a saloon and became an East Boston political boss.

His mother, Rose, was the daughter of famed Boston Mayor John F. (Honey Fitz) Fitzgerald.

Perhaps as imbued with politics as Jack are his two brothers, Edward and Robert, both lawyers and stalwart campaigners.

The youngest, Edward, 28, nicknamed Teddy, took over in 1958 as Jack's campaign manager and has been in the thick of things since.

When Jack ran for the Senate in 1952, brother Robert F. had the campaign job. Since then, Bobby, 33, rose to a prominent role as chief counsel of the Senate investigations subcommittee.

Last September, Bobby quit his Senate investigating job to write a book about labor racketeers, entitled "The Enemy Within." It was published in the midst of the 1960 primaries, adding to the Kennedy publicity.

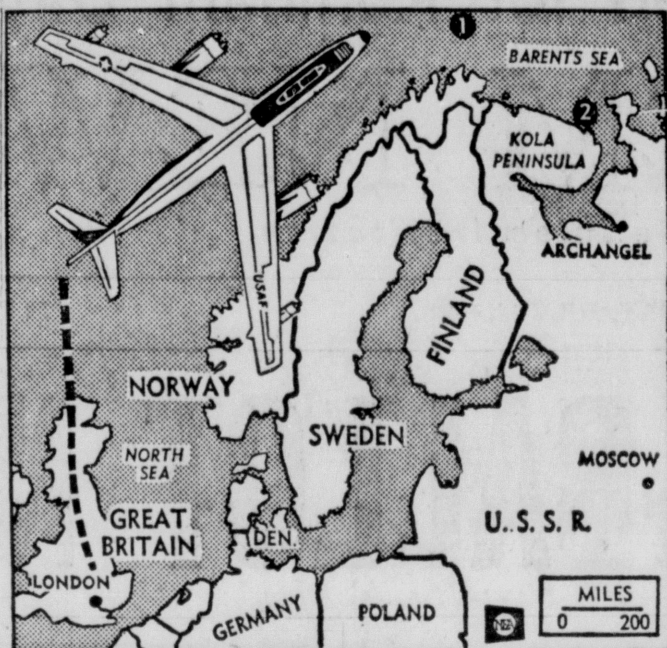

Jack is the author of "Why England Slept," and the Pulitzer Prize winning "Profiles in Courage."

Probation Request Made by Prisoner

LISBON — Probation investigation was ordered Wednesday by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp for Raymond Payton, 21, of East Liverpool, who has changed his plea to guilty to a burglary charge.

Payton, with Donald Bailey Jr., 19, and Daniel Germanovich, 18, also of East Liverpool, were charged with the burglary of the William Stayton gas station and store, south of Salem, April 13.

All defendants pleaded not guilty at arraignment day July 7 after being indicted by the recalled April grand jury.

Camporee Planned At Fairgrounds by Scouts July 22-24

LISBON — Approximately 500 Boy Scouts and scout leaders of the Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, will hold a jamboree camporee at the Lisbon Fairgrounds Friday through Sunday, July 22-24, according to Bennett D. Taylor, executive director of Columbiana Council.

At the same time approximately two million scouts all over the United States will be holding jamboree camporees, with about 56,000 camped at the National Camporee at Colorado Springs, Colo., including 37 from Columbiana County.

The scouts will be celebrating their 50th anniversary and invite the public to visit the camporee at the fairgrounds on Saturday from 10 a.m. until the completion of their campfire program that evening.

During the day they will hold a gigantic outdoor show of many scouting skills, with colorful displays and demonstrations going on throughout the day, Mr. Taylor said.

1960 Convention Contradicts Presidential Candidates

By JAMES MARLOW
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 1960 political conventions are not only old-fashioned. They're contradictions.

Here in the sixth decade of the 20th Century they retain all the corny, long-winded, disorderly clatter of the 19th Century.

But they are nominating presidential candidates who are thoroughly modern.

Neither Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, who got the Democratic nomination Wednesday night, nor Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who seems assured of the Republican nod, exudes much personal warmth.

Neither is a moving speaker. And just because both lack the power to excite they may put on a dull campaign.

Neither has the personal charm of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the fire of Harry S. Truman or the easy geniality on Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But both are superb technicians in politics.

Getting the nomination is for them no accident. They have worked for it for years, not only in person but by surrounding themselves with excellent young staffs, taking care of minute details, and planning ahead.

They are so expert in modern political techniques—from how to handle themselves on TV to lining up support far ahead of time—they have to be careful not to look too slick.

The one thing Kennedy and Nixon have in common is a thorough knowledge of national issues and the problems facing the country, although their stand on issues and solutions for the problems are not the same.

Either man as president would do far more homework, firsthand, than Eisenhower ever did. They've been doing it for years.

Eisenhower depended so much on staff work—on his advisers for information about issues and events—that he cheerfully admitted he does most of his newspaper reading on Sunday.

Nothing illustrates better the old-fashioned flavor of the 1960 conventions than the fact it took the Democrats almost eight hours of nominating speeches and banner-waving Wednesday before voting on a candidate.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Kennedy's closest rival for the Democratic nomination, disclosed at this week's convention he belongs to the old school of politicians.

One example was the arm-waving, stem-winding speeches, the clichés and literary flag waving in his TV appearance with Kennedy, who finished in a few minutes without flourishes.

To this writer, who has seen every political convention since 1944, Wednesday night's nomination of Kennedy seemed the least enthusiastic of the past 16 years.

The answer may be that it is difficult to get emotional about a technician. Why then was Kennedy chosen, aside from the fact that he and his supporters had worked for months lining up delegates?

Perhaps because the convention felt, consciously or not, that he accumulating problems of today call not only for a hard-working, well-informed candidate but one who acts and thinks in modern terms.

It probably won't surprise you to learn that most people—given a choice of any motor car in the land—would choose Cadillac.

For Cadillac is so widely acknowledged the master of motor cars that it has become a vital part of the aspirations of people everywhere.

It is a possession deliberately created to represent design and craftsmanship at their highest levels—and to render the fullest possible measure of personal enjoyment and satisfaction.

Happily, more and more of Cadillac's "secret admirers" have this year decided to declare their intentions—and start driving one!

And with good reason:

First of all, the car itself provides a greater temptation to action than ever before. In the way it looks and rides and handles—it has widened even further the gulf that exists between Cadillac and other motor cars.

Secondly, the "car of cars" is now within the means of an even larger number of motorists.

Its original cost is surprisingly close to cars of far less stature and acceptance. Its dependability and reliability are unparalleled. And, as always, it is the "resale champion" of all motordom.

We suggest you pay your Cadillac dealer a visit—and let him arrange a date with your secret love.

E. Liverpool Burglary Suspect Held In Jail

LISBON — Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp continued the $10,000 bond of John C. Ciesielski, 31, of Pittsburgh, at a hearing Wednesday.

Ciesielski was captured by the East Liverpool police on River Road after a chase early Sunday morning, June 19, after he and a companion burglarized the Peoples drug store of narcotics. His companion escaped after the crash.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff set the bond at this amount in East Liverpool municipal court June 22 and bound him over to the grand jury, the hearing to lower the bond being held Wednesday in common pleas court.

Ciesielski is confined to the county jail in lieu of the bond.

The Cuban Battle Line Is Drawn

President Eisenhower's answer to Nikita Khrushchev's rocket-rattling has drawn the battle line for the showdown between the Western Hemisphere and international communism over Cuba.

The Kremlin chieftain issued the challenge when he attempted to steal our Monroe Doctrine thunder by declaring he would protect Cuba from United States intervention. Such a challenge could not be ignored by the United States because it represents an effort to achieve just exactly what the Monroe Doctrine was designed to prevent—interference in the affairs of this hemisphere by nations from any other hemisphere.

IN MEETING the challenge, the President made two things clear:

1. The United States is willing to live and let live as far as Cuba is concerned. This is why the United States has borne in silent suffering the offensive propaganda Fidel Castro has been spewing forth for months. This is why, when Castro started confiscating American assets in Cuba, the United States chose to withdraw its sugar subsidy to the island rather than take some action more physically aggressive.

In short, our policy so far has been based on the philosophy of live and let live. Castro needs us more than we need him, but if he thinks otherwise he is free to go his own way and take his consequences.

2. The Monroe Doctrine is no longer a unilateral policy of the United States. It has been adopted as a hemispheric policy by the other nations of Latin America. Three specific agreements and the Organization of American States back it up as such.

Therefore, one of the consequences, Fidel Castro should beware of in advance is that if and when his own way endangers the way other nations in the New World want to go, he can expect trouble.

If the way Castro chooses to go is the route of international communism, there is precedent aplenty for assuming that other nations of the hemisphere would consider it a danger to their own well-being.

And if Nikita Khrushchev works too hard at turning the Castro regime onto the road of international communism, he will have more than the United States to deal with.

Those are the two points President Eisenhower's answer to Nikita Khrushchev was intended to clear up, but there is more to the statement than that. As policy, it must be carried out. As a battle line, it must be backed up.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, the United States must have the patience to wait until that hemisphere concept of the Monroe Doctrine comes into play in the Cuban situation. Other Latin American capitals have been reluctant to jump into the fray, although their sympathies have been hinted at in a variety of ways.

They are waiting for events in Cuba to develop to the point where they will be on really firm ground in making a move against Castro. It will be wise for the United States to wait with them.

In the second place, when the time comes to make a move, the United States must be prepared to make it. That may be brinkmanship but it is the only course that will discourage the Communists in the final analysis. To back down from a firm stand would be worse than not taking a firm stand in the first place. It would convince not only the Communists but our friends throughout the world that we lack the fortitude to fight for what we see as right.

NO ONE ARGUES firm action will be easy. Tough times are ahead and we have probably seen only the beginning—suggestions that Cuba will demand our forfeiture of the Guantanamo Naval Base pose more serious problems than we have had to face with Castro up to now.

But if the United States in 1823—weak and young and brash and inexperienced—could make the Monroe Doctrine stick, there is no reason we cannot make it stick today.

If we do not, we will simply be handing the Communists proof of their contention that in growing big and wealthy we have also grown soft.

The Party Platform

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Every four years, on the eve of each of our great political conventions, a handful of men gather and in a spastic performance come up with what is known as the party's political platform.

Almost always, it is like a dress that is worn but once. For it is little more than a combination of generalities and compromises, roughly stitched, stapled, scotch-taped, and pasted together to give the political party some garb to wear in public for a short time.

To change the figure of speech, the whole business is rather like seeing a collapsed balloon dragged out of storage, scrubbed off, patched, touched up with some new decorations and, with much puffing and huffing, inflated to a size that will lift it off the ground and for a time attract the attention of as many spectators as bother to look up.

WE CANNOT SAY that our party platforms are a "true reflection" of what the mass parties stand for.

And from experience we see that for the most part promises contained therein are neither binding nor devoutly respected.

Most candidates go on to state their own program during a campaign. Once elected, they are even more inclined to disregard platform promises.

If this sounds a bit harsh on an esteemed and venerable political exercise of our democracy, dust off the 1932 Democratic platform and read that a Democratic administration would reverse the big spending, big government policies of the Republicans and handle the depression with "an immediate and drastic reduction of government expenditures... to accomplish a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of federal government."

Of 1936 pledges, the parties have made good on but one—a statehood for Hawaii and Alaska.

There are other ways by which the aspirations of party membership might find a greater measure of fulfillment. Efforts should be made to de-emphasize the party platform and the way it is concocted.

We might look to another land for another approach. Britain has an institution which we might study. It is the Annual Conference.

The Conservative and Labor parties hold Annual Conferences for 2½ and 4½ days.

They are attended by local constituency leaders, party officials, hard-working supporters, members of Parliament and, for the party in power, ministers.

At a Conference, debate and discussion flourish and certain resolutions may be passed, although they are not binding upon elected party members.

British political life in the 1920's and 1930's was studied with spectacular debates at these conferences, but recently the conference has served more as a source of stimulation to the constituency representatives who attend and as a demonstration of party solidarity.

One chairman put it pugnantly, "In a way this is the power house for next year's propaganda for the good old Tory party."

ONE MINISTER explained two advantages the Annual Conference gave a minister: "In the first place it enabled him to gauge to some extent the feeling in the party about any proposal with which he was concerned; and in the second place if any criticism was called forth (by Conference proposals) it might give him an opportunity to answer such criticism."

Also, meeting every year rather than every four years gives both British parties an opportunity to thrash out and perhaps achieve solidarity on important problems that tend to crop up unexpectedly.

Something along the annual conference line could replace our ineffectual party platform device and the feeble approach offered by "advisory committees."

This could bring together annually congressional leaders, governors, state chairmen, national committeemen, cabinet members, and other party leaders.

Our parties might then have something more substantial to stand for from year to year.

Sugar Changes

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—You are being assured that the price of sugar should hold fairly steady despite our political quarrel with the Castro government in Havana.

The supply should be subject to only minor bobbles while other sources are tapped for more or new sources added. The last thing you need to think about is laying in an extra supply now—it would just harden on your shelves.

But our lawmakers are going to be under pressure to revise present quotas, and refiners here must switch some supply lines.

At home, cane farmers and especially beet sugar producers will want a bigger guaranteed market. Friendly off shore growers will want more, too.

Many other nations are going to watch closely—either as producers coveting the rich American market, where sugar prices are kept higher than elsewhere by law, or as sugar buyers guessing what will happen to their own sources and to the cost of sugar to them.

Here is how our sugar quota law works and the various means by which under the recent changes we could make up supplies the Cuban sugar industry won't be sending:

Each December before the start of the sugar cutting and grinding season, the U.S. Agriculture Department estimates how much sugar U.S. consumers will need. It uses a Congress-set formula to apportion this among domestic and foreign suppliers. The estimates and quotas are adjusted during the year as the demand outlook rises or falls.

For 1960 the department first decided 9,400,000 tons would take care of the American sweet tooth. Friday it decided 9,600,000 would be nearer the mark.

Domestic beet growers are now allotted a bit more than two million tons, and domestic cane growers 642,373 tons. Hawaii and Puerto Rico each get between 1 and 1¼ million tons the Virgin Islands 16,618 tons, and the Philippines just under one million tons.

Cuba's original quota was 2,119,655 tons (most of which has already reached the United States). President Eisenhower has just trimmed that to 2,419,655 tons, leaving Cuban shippers less than 4,000 tons they still can send.

Fourteen other sugar areas split the rest of the quota admitted this year, ranging from Peru's 104,187 tons to Hong Kong's three tons.

The others, in order of tonnage, are: Dominican Republic, Mexico, Nicaragua, Haiti, Netherlands, Nationalist China, Panama, Costa Rica, Canada, United Kingdom, Belgium and British Guiana.

The following weren't granted an increase in Friday's reshuffle: Philippines, Canada, United Kingdom, Belgium, British Guiana and Hong Kong.

Congress spelled out some of the areas it wants favored when Cuba's lost tonnage is redistributed. The Agriculture Department is spelling out the rest.

(Friday's quota shuffle was set before the Cuba quota was cut.)

Some American refiners will have to change to new supply areas, and so will some sugar carrying freighters. This will cause inconvenience but no shortages are expected this year.

Dictatorial Power

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Dems Would Change National Mood

LOS ANGELES — It would require a dictator in the White House to fulfill some of the provisions of the platform recommended to the Democratic National Convention by a majority of its platform committee.

Not only does the platform impose on the President-to-be the task of reversing the national "mood," whatever that is, but it proposes, in effect, that employment practices and social customs be changed irrespective of the legal rights of private citizens.

"We have drifted," says the platform, "into a national mood that accepts payola and quiz scandals, tax evasion and false expense accounts, soaring crime rates, influence peddling in high government circles and the exploitation of sadistic violence as popular entertainment."

"For eight long critical years our present national leadership has made no effective effort to reverse this mood."

Just how any administration can set about to change the national mood in every field from entertainment to crime rates, is a little hard to understand but platforms are noted for their promises of Utopia.

The most alarming section, however, of the platform—and one which could cost the Democrats plenty of electoral votes in the South and perhaps in the North—is a provision which practically tells employers they must adopt some system of equality of race, religion and color in choosing their employees.

IT ALSO TELLS the private schools they, too, must not discriminate in matters of race or religion or color. Maybe there will be no more exclusively white social clubs in the North if the Democratic platform means what it says and if laws are to be passed to remove all forms of discrimination.

The platform plank on this reads in part as follows:

"The time has come to assure equal access for all Americans to all areas of Community life, including voting booths, schoolrooms, jobs, housing and public facilities."

The clause "equal access to all areas of community life" is the most sweeping ever proposed in a political platform. There are no exceptions, nor is the word "schoolrooms" qualified by the word "public."

It is not clear yet how the platform writers came to the conclusion that the Constitution gives Congress the right to pass a law telling a private employer whom he may employ, especially when he isn't engaged in any government contract work.

Yet the platform plank says: "The new Democratic administration establishing a fair employment will support federal legislation practices commission effectively to secure for everyone the right to equal opportunity for employment."

Does this mean that, unless an equal number of Negroes and whites are employed or if someone thinks he should have a job for which he isn't really qualified, the employer can be hauled before a commission and made to prove that no discriminatory motive is behind his hiring practices?

Does it mean that there must be a proportionately equal number of Protestants, Catholics and Jews in every plant or business establishment in order to fulfill the requirements of "equal access"?

IT IS CLEAR from the way the platform is written that the authors are not talking only of federal services or work on government contracts. This latter field is separately provided for, and there is, in addition, a broadly phrased paragraph which says: "A new Democratic administration will broaden the scope and strengthen the powers of the present (civil rights) commission and make it permanent. Its functions will be to provide assistance to communities, industries or individuals in the implementation of constitutional rights in education, housing, employment, transportation, and the administration of justice."

There are neighborhoods in many American cities where racial discrimination prevails.

The United States Supreme Court has said the federal and state authorities have no power to enforce "integration" against the wishes of private-property owners. This could become a big issue in the coming campaign.

Already the Southern leaders have announced openly that they repudiate the platform.

They say in a public statement: "We emphatically repudiate those provisions, do not propose to be bound by them, and respectfully request that the statement of repudiation be entered upon the minutes of the convention and read to the convention upon the presentation of the platform."

The desire of the platform makers to win the votes of Negro and other minority groups will create new conflicts with other groups which have hitherto supported the Democratic ticket.

Sen. Kennedy, as the party nominee, would be on the spot if asked whether he supports wholeheartedly the provisions of the platform quoted above. If he does, it could cost him the South and some Northern states as well. It may be doubted whether the Republican platform will invade the field of private rights as the Democratic platform has done.

Britain's Instant Beer

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
(For HAL BOYLE)

NEW YORK — A thirsty world receives with a mixture of trepidation and delight the news that a British brewery has come up with a formula for instant beer.

Leave it to perfidious Albion to put a head on the 20th century's scientific development. While scientists most everywhere else in the world were nucking about with rockets and missiles, her majesty's laboratory legions, in true Alec Guinness fashion, were busy trying to extract a presto pint from their test tubes.

After many a long night and many a longer morning after, the breakthrough finally came at Burton-on-Trent, one of England's oldest foam factories.

It is still too early to tell whether the brewmaster will be knighted for his efforts and thereby become history's first bona fide beer baron.

However, now that the staff has sobered up from the big heard round the world, it is time to consider what this singular achievement means in terms of our civilization and our way of life as we know it, or used to know it.

What, for instance, is to become of the venerable custom of going on the water wagon? Armed with a pail of sudden suds, the reform-minded souse certainly would fall off before he ever really got on, thereby dooming a perfectly usable expression to early obsolescence.

And think what will happen to the office lush. He won't even have to wait for the munch whistle to wet his whistle. Right under the boss's nose and on company time, he can get a beautiful bun on simply by making periodic trips to the water cooler. If that arouses too much suspicion he can always lap up the ewings in the saucer beneath the window plants.

Five years from now, Old Faithful Geyser and the Hoover Dam would undoubtedly be the nation's busiest saloons.

Alcoholics Anonymous would have to set up emergency chapters at every aqueduct, spillway, lake, fountain, and rain barrel in the land, and perhaps dispatch one of the faithful every time a backsliding member felt like turning on a faucet.

A Boy Scout palling on a canteen would be as suspect as a Bowery bum swigging on a pint bottle in a doorway.

The country's myriad closet drinkers could at last come out of the closet and get their kicks with the garden sprinkler.

The Image Was Not Their Own

Some of his arm-waving critics are sniping at Dwight Eisenhower again because he has gone to Newport for a golfing vacation. If this is his idea of what a President of the United States should be doing at this critical time, they are saying, it certainly is not their idea.

Their idea is that he should stay in Washington and thump the political tub. He should be stirring up issues and using the Washington sounding board to keep the country and the world conscious of his role in the White House. The arm-wavers are hoping the next President will be more to their liking.

He undoubtedly will be, though they won't like that, either. But it is a certainty the next President will behave more like a politician than President Eisenhower, who wasn't a politician when he was nominated by the Republican National Convention eight years ago and never learned how to act like one.

Politicians who resented this never quite comprehended that this was Mr. Eisenhower's strong suit in the political game he won.

Good Improvement

The State Highway Department is to be commended for its action taken earlier this year to widen and improve two main highways leading north from Salem—Route 62 (Albany Road) and Alternate Rt. 14 (Benton Road).

These heavily traveled thoroughfares will be widened from 20 to 24 feet by providing an extra two feet on each side. The existing width is hardly adequate for today's travel. The contractor is now on the scene and work will proceed. It is a project that was discussed frequently in years past but never executed. It's a minor project compared to some jobs but important nevertheless.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

This column sent Oswald Oddball to the Los Angeles convention and got the following report:

Dear Boss: Well, I am at the rodeo, P. T. Barnum testimonial, buson derby, pier riot, TV spectacular, Mardi Gras and Nations' Rally of American Indians out here and am pretty perplexed.

I asked directions to the sideshow, bullfight, pro wrestling bouts and clambake disturbances and was asked, "What do you think this is?" I replied I wouldn't know until I consulted my psychiatrist. The fellow told me it was a national convention to nominate candidates for the presidency and vice presidency of the United States, but he couldn't fool me.

I know no country picks men for such big jobs in so much of a circus, musical comedy and Mummies Parade atmosphere.

They tell me the disturbing noises I hear come from speechmaking. I am fortunate that I am deaf and that my hearing aid blew a gasket early. A friend offered to lend me his but I know when I am well off.

I am mixed up by the whole show and can't figure why Joseph Welch, the Boston lawyer, movie and TV star isn't master of ceremonies or why Rodgers & Hammerstein aren't candidates.

From what I gather in my state of bewilderment this is really some sort of convention and Billy Rose was ahead the first two days, with the Tilyou Brothers of Coney Island close up.

I saw one big delegation wearing "We Like Victor Moore" buttons, and some other carrying banners that read: "Put Walt Disney in the White House" "Forward with Adam Forepaugh" and "Russel Crouse for President."

A FELLOW told me Jack Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson, Stu Symington and Adlai Stevenson were the real candidates but I think this is false, as they are serious men who were never in an Olsen & Johnson "Hellzapoppin'" road company and have had no experience at country fairs, movie riots or as bit players in "The Untouchables."

There are so many pretty dames around that if Earl Carroll was alive I would think he was running things.

Before I go further I wish to say I have released my delegates, all of whom got lost in traffic the first day and were for Calvin Collie anyhow. (I just met John Ringling North and he says regardless of conventions nobody can win the election who is not a steam callopie player.)

Jim Reinsch, convention director, says it is like producing "Ben Hur." The difference is that every candidate wants chariots and right to run in all directions.

There have been few times in history when there was so much talk of war in promoting peace.

States Swept Up by Kennedy

Some Jump, Coaxed; Others Shoved In

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—State by state, they were swept up by the Kennedy tide. Did they jump in? Were they coaxed? Pushed?

Many leaped to Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the Democratic nominee for president. He won them over. He was energetic. He gave the appearance of a brave young man, willing to take on all comers in primary elections.

He spoke readily, if not eloquently, on any subject. He had looks, the appeal of a handsome leading man to girls, of an engaging lad to mothers.

He had experience, six years in the House, eight in the Senate. He was a war hero. He wrote books, received a Pulitzer prize. Most of all, he drew votes. He won seven primaries.

Many were cajoled by a skillfully devised and deployed organization. They had to be persuaded. Kennedy is a Roman Catholic. He is only 43—too young, some of his detractors said. Among their other belittlings, they said he hadn't entered all the primaries. He shifted position over the years on major issues. He was too rich. He was the son of Joseph P. Kennedy, once called an isolationist and an appeaser.

Some delegates had to be shoved by that same relentless Kennedy organization. The candidate himself could not convince them, not until pressed to stay in line or shown that the Kennedy parade was passing them by.

Jack Kennedy arrived in Los Angeles last Saturday the obvious front-runner. He had campaigned. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas had stayed in Washington most of the year, running the Senate. Sen. Stuart Symington had divided his time between seeking votes and voting new laws. Adlai C. Stevenson had waited for others to beat his drums.

With four days to go, Kennedy claimed over 600 of the necessary 761 convention votes. Cold figures, obtained independently, credited him with 546, Johnson with 235. That was on Saturday.

On Sunday, Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago unwrapped his package for Kennedy. 59 1/2 of 69 Illinois votes. Gov. Edmund G. Brown of 81-vote California declared for Kennedy. So did Govs. Herschel C. Loveless of Iowa and George Docking of Kansas. At nightfall Kennedy had 620 1/2, Johnson 273.

On Monday, Gov. David L. Lawrence steered 64 — the number would increase — of Pennsylvania's 81 votes to Kennedy. New York, with 114 altogether, started adding to the 91 1/2 it brought to town for Kennedy. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota turned loose his 63 1/2 votes, not to Kennedy but to a stream into which Kennedy dipped his net. At this point, Kennedy had 688 1/2, Johnson 304 1/2.

On Tuesday the pace slowed. Rivals said it had stopped. California delivered only 30 1/2 to Kennedy, 31 1/2 to Stevenson. Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota and New Jersey, among others, didn't come across as expected. Still the total rose: Kennedy 743, Johnson 335.

On Wednesday, in the morning, Kennedy had slipped to 741 1/2 because a few minds changed in Nebraska's delegation. Humphrey declared for Stevenson.

But by the time the convention opened a few hours later, Kennedy was assured the magic 761 votes he needed, and he got them Wednesday night.

Leetonia OK's School Budget

Board Narrows Coach Applicants to 4

LEETONIA — The Board of Education approved the 1961 budget of $373,794 at its meeting Wednesday night.

This is an increase of approximately $15,200 over the 1960 budget. Of this amount, $15,000 is to liquidate deficits existing at the beginning of 1960.

Anticipated receipts for 1961 are approximately $200 over 1960.

A breakdown of the budget is as follows: Administration, $13,450; personnel services, $2,550; instruction, $210,000; personnel services, $33,994; coordinate activities, $2,000; libraries, $7,000; transportation, $19,500; auxiliary agencies, $1,000; operation of school plant, $40,000; maintenance of school plant, $11,500; and debt service, $32,800.

The board passed a resolution to submit a five-mill operating levy for renewal at the November election.

The resignation of the following teachers were accepted: Pat Mancuso, head football coach; Yvonne Huss, home economics; Raymond Pyles and Sara Calvin, elementary; and Mrs. Raymond Pyles, elementary supervisor.

Evelyn Mercure was hired to teach high school English, and Theresa Mercure was hired for an elementary post.

Approximately 30 applicants were interviewed for the position of head football coach, with all but four being eliminated. Final decision is expected late this week.

Those attending were President Dr. Guy Nicolette, Wayne Holloway, Jack Ripley, Dr. Paul Beaver, and Clerk Mrs. Gladys Gause.

credited with providing the push that got the senator's campaign into orbit.

But despite speculation that the federal price controller under former President Truman might be offered a Washington job if Kennedy becomes president, DiSalle has said repeatedly he would not be interested. He has more than two years remaining in his four-year term as governor.

Symington, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and an envoy for Adlai E. Stevenson addressed the Ohio caucus shortly before Wednesday's convention session. They asked consideration by Ohioans in event of a second ballot for the presidential nomination.

Afterward, DiSalle reminded delegates of their first ballot pledge to Kennedy although stating does not prevent Ohioans from voting as they please at a national election.

One delegate, in affirming at the caucus that he would vote first for Kennedy, said he wanted to shift if there was a second ballot. He was Paul D. Barthelme of Canton in the 16th District. He did not identify his choice after Kennedy.

Before the convention's nominating session, Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, a 18th District delegate, said he would switch to Johnson on a second vote. Coleman said a handful of Ohioans liked Stevenson but asserted most of the delegation probably would swing to Symington if Kennedy should falter.

Mental Health Group Meets, Discusses Plans

LISBON — A working program for the coming year and a long-range program were discussed when 12 executive board members of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association met Wednesday noon at Wick Hotel.

Discussed was the affiliation with one of the two state groups, Ohio Mental Health or the Mental Health Federation Corp.

A donation was given to the County Home by the club for beautification of the home.

Future possibility of a county child guidance clinic, similar to the East Liverpool Counseling Center, was discussed. The club gave a cash donation to the East Liverpool center.

Mayor William Shoub of Wellsville, president of the group, presided at yesterday's monthly meeting.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 10 at noon at the hotel.

Wyoming Casts Magic 15 Votes

Convention Regains Dignity at Choice

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It rolled on and on, one state after another.

It moved forward relentlessly with a kind of inevitability while Johnson supporters hoped for just enough of a roadblock to slow its momentum and Stevenson admirers prayed for a miracle.

But neither roadblock nor miracle came to pass.

And at 10:50 Wednesday night, Sen. John Fitzgerald Kennedy of Massachusetts became the Democratic nominee for president of the United States.

The count on the big tote board over the speakers' platform stood at 750 to Kennedy and 405 for Johnson at 10:49. The young man from Boston was now just 11 short of his dream.

Then came Wyoming at 10:50. Some 25,000 persons in the Los Angeles Sports Arena and untold millions in the television world beyond turned to watch the Wyoming delegation in the middle of the jammed, tense oval.

"Mr. Chairman, Wyoming casts 15 votes for John Kennedy, the next—"

And Kennedy was in on the first ballot.

Inevitable or not, there is a kind of magic when the big moment comes, a magic to stir even the hearts of cynics with the thought that at this precise tick of the 34th president of the United States may have been chosen.

Somehow part of the magic is that after three long days of grubby wheeling and dealing behind hotel room doors, or ritual, meaningless rhetoric and sheer nonsense on the convention floor, one of our two greatest political parties achieves a solemn majesty.

It had made a choice in a wonderful moment of dignity reborn, for a party and a nation.

The high moment came after many low moments. After endless speeches in which nine names were placed in nomination, four of them seriously, five as favorites. After a long, droning march of superlative, enough to drive Paul Bunyon underground. After endless demonstrations on cue by partisans who waved banners, screamed, stomped, marched like self-conscious groupies called upon to make faces and noises for the kids.

And finally at 10:09 the convention was ready to vote.

"Alabama votes 20 for—"

Every time the clerk repeats a vote wrongly, the crowd roars like a gigantic schoolroom catching the teacher in an error.

At 10:49 p. m. Wisconsin makes it 750 for Kennedy, 405 for Johnson.

A moment later Wyoming stands up and the crowd roars and onto the ledger of history comes John Fitzgerald Kennedy, Democratic nominee for president of the United States.

UN

Voting for the resolution were the United States, Soviet Union, Ceylon, Ecuador, Italy, Poland, and Argentina.

Before the vote Belgian Delegate Walter Lorian declared his country would withdraw its troops when the U.N. force is on the spot and able to restore security to the Congo.

Lorian vigorously denied the Congolese government's charge of aggression by Belgium and said Belgian troops had intervened only because the mutinous Congo army could not maintain order and the lives of the thousands of whites in the new republic were threatened.

The session was marked by a bitter denunciation of the Western powers, and particularly the United States, by Soviet Delegate Arkady A. Sobolev and an indignant reply from U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Sobolev demanded that the council condemn Belgium for sending troops into the territory of the two-week-old Congo republic, a former Belgian colony.

He accused Clare H. Timberlake, the U.S. ambassador in The Congo, of intervention in The Congo's affairs and of using Ralph J. Bunche, Negro U.N. under-secretary now in the new country, to broaden plans for Western intervention under the U.N. flag.

Lodge denounced Sobolev's statement as "outrageous and untrue."

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE

Cars driven by Enid Hinckley, 68, of 733 Newgarden St., and Garry L. Metzgar, 19, of D. 2, Carey Rd., collided Wednesday at 6:53 p.m. in front of the Hinckley residence on Newgarden St. Police said Mrs. Hinckley was attempting to make a left turn into her driveway when her car was struck by Metzgar who was headed in the opposite direction. Police said Metzgar applied his brake but that the car slid on wet pavement into the other auto.

Announcement Clears Up Plane Mystery

Radioactivity Survey Made In Area By 2 U.S. Agencies

If you are among the Salemites who have wondered about the low-flying plane towing an object behind, relax. The mystery is cleared.

It's part of an airborne survey of natural background radioactivity which is underway over a 14,000-square-mile area of Pennsylvania and Ohio in proximity to Pittsburgh.

It is not an aerial photo service as one weekly paper explained last week, but a survey conducted by the United States Geological Survey at the request of the Atomic Energy Commission.

It's a new phase of a cooperative program started two years ago to survey various parts of the country where atomic installations are located. There are two such plants in the Pittsburgh area—the Shippingport Atomic Power Station and the Bettis Atomic Power Laboratory.

The idea is to determine the levels of natural radiation—coming from soil, rocks and cosmic rays—to provide a base from which to determine "any future reactors or other Atomic Energy Commission operations."

In such a survey, a DC3 airplane equipped with a sensitive radiation counter flies at an altitude of 500 feet in lines about a mile apart, embracing an area with a 50-mile radius around an atomic plant.

The Pittsburgh-area survey began in mid-June, starting around Youngstown and working east on a north-south line.

Geological Survey scientists said it's expected the survey will be completed around mid-August and that shortly thereafter, a preliminary report will be made to the AEC—with a more detailed report about a year later.

The agency also will utilize the results in connection with its own geological survey research, the AEC explained today.

name of the seriously injured survivor.

The passengers were shoeless, in wet clothes, and some were still clinging to lifebelts. But most were in good spirits and full of praise for pilot David Rall of Seattle, Wash., and six members of his crew.

Mrs. Glyde Kelley, 25, of Springfield, victim of the crash of the Northwest Airlines plane in the sea off the Philippine Islands Wednesday night, was a teacher at Sweeney High School near Springfield.

The wife of Prof. G. Vernon Kelley, 60, head of the Speech Department of Wittenberg University, she and her husband were on a pleasure trip around the world. They left Springfield July 1.

Airline spokesmen said Mrs. Kelley's body was found floating in the water. She was the only fatality reported among the 58 passenger and crew members.

Prof. Kelley had been associated with Wittenberg University since 1926. He is a graduate of Wichita, Kan., University; Oberlin College and the University of Michigan where he earned his doctorate in jurisprudence.

Beekeepers Meet At Earl Hamilton Farm

LISBON — Thirty members and guests attended the Columbiana County beekeepers meeting at the Earl Hamilton farm, Lisbon RD 1, Wednesday evening, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

John Lemmon of the Ohio Department of Agriculture, spoke on the production of comb honey and bee culture.

The next meeting for the group will be the state beekeepers meeting in Salem July 30-31.

Kennedy

oned Johnson's cause, was unhappy about the result. But he said he is a good Democrat and will abide by the result.

Johnson himself sent Kennedy a wire offering "warm congratulations" and promising help "in every way to carry the whole Democratic ticket to victory from the courthouse to the White House."

But other Southerners let their feelings show.

Gov. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina made an official demand that his state not be recorded as joining the acclamation for Kennedy's nomination.

South Carolina Democrats will reconvene their state convention in mid-August. Sources close to the governor said they expect the state's electors to be instructed to vote for some other person than Kennedy in the Electoral College.

Six Southern states have made arrangements under which they could free their electors if they chose.

More trouble could be expected from Mississippi, which wouldn't even give its support to Johnson but cast its 23 convention votes for Gov. Ross R. Barnett.

Kennedy Answers Dems At Convention

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Following is the text of Sen. John F. Kennedy's remarks to delegates after being voted the Democratic presidential nomination:

Gov. Collins, Chairman Butler, Gov. Brown and my mother and my sister:

Under the official procedures of this convention, it is not possible for me to give you an answer to your nomination until Friday night, but I think you can guess what the answer will be.

Four years ago, in another great city, on the occasion of our 1956 Democratic convention, I came to the platform and moved that the name of our vice presidential nominee, Sen. Kefauver, be made unanimous. Therefore, I have some recognition of the feeling of my friend and colleague Sen. Johnson, and my friend and colleague, Sen. Symington.

Their generosity and the generosity of the other favorite sons in moving that this nomination be made by acclamation, I think, gives us promise of going to the people of the United States in this election as a strong and united party in all parts of the United States.

I hope that those who have so loyally supported them will join with me. This is an important election, in many ways the most important election in the history of this country. All of us in this room and across the country are united together in our devotion to this country.

We wish to keep it strong, and we wish to keep it free. It requires at this critical time the best of all of us, and I can assure all of you here who have reposed this confidence in me that I will be worthy of your trust. We will carry the fight to the people in the fall, and we shall win.

forced within two hours. We rejected it."

There seemed to be differences of opinion over the military role Belgians are to play in their old colony, freed only two weeks ago, when peace finally returns.

Two government members said Belgian troops will retire to their bases in The Congo after U. N. military forces restore order, but will not leave the new central African nation.

The ministers' statements to newsmen after a Cabinet meeting appeared at variance with Belgian U.N. Delegate Walter Lorian's declaration to the U.N. Security Council early today that Belgium would withdraw its troops when the U.N. force is on the scene and able to provide security.

2 SIGNS DAMAGED

LISBON — Two state highway markers were hit and bent over sometime around 7 a.m. today in Lisbon at the Square. Patrolman Leon Zahndt said tire tracks indicated that a long truck turned the corner too sharp and hit the signs as it was coming off Route 30 going north on Route 45.

Behind The Ballyhoo

By DAVID BARNETT

A national political convention is primarily a gathering of local autonomous chiefs, backed up by their tribes of delegates.

From this confused conclave, the party hopes to emerge with a candidate for President who can win and carry local party tickets with him.

If possible, the convention victors must not be allowed to go home full of uneasiness and the vanquished full of bile.

A gathering of 2,906 delegates and alternates, such as the Democratic convention which opened Monday, is no place to set high governmental policy.

As in the past, the platform that emerges before the candidate is formally picked will be more a compromise of sectional views and group interests than a monumental product of ideological unity.

Because as the sleeping car porter put it, "A platform is something to get in on, not something to stand on."

The convention provides for party leaders a "human situation" for the elaborate give-and-take required to keep the party together.

It is through this give-and-take at a convention that such pole-sawed Democrats as Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia can remain in the same party and ultimately support the same candidate.

TO FOREIGN OBSERVERS accustomed to the strict party discipline of a parliamentary system, the big convention show looks like a confused combination of pathological rhetoric on the rostrum and witless gyrations in the delegates' stands, a sad way to run a great country.

And there is, as James A. Arley put it, "a carnival spirit, a touch of the sawdust and the sideshow about a national convention that makes it unique among public gatherings."

Open sessions of conventions are almost always educational and ratification meetings. They give the rank-and-file party workers a sense of common purpose in participating physically and emotionally in the nominating convetio.

But the big questions either have been decided before the temporary chairman bangs the opening gavel or are "compromised out" behind the scenes.

As a recent study of Brookings Institution points out, the situation at the opening of the convention is similar to that of "and-end-game in chess—the positions and relative strength of the antagonists are the result of the game that went on before."

Politically leaders who charged recently that the coming conventions were "rigged" and called for a "free" choice on the floor, were playing convention politics, not making serious attempts to democratize an institution.

IN GENERAL, there are three types of situations at the opening of a convention:

1. One potential candidate usually the incumbent president—is in an overwhelmingly powerful situation. This will be the case at the Republican convention in Chicago later this month.

From 1832 until 1932, the Democrats required a two-thirds vote to nominate at a convention.

The Brookings study shows that in 14 of the 26 conventions during the period, the successful candidate came to the convention with more than 50 per cent of the delegate votes.

Since 1932, when majority rule was adopted, every successful candidate has come into the convention with more than 66 per cent of the vote on the first ballot except in 1952.

2. One potential candidate is in a powerful position but weaker candidates have hopes that an upset can be pulled, either by brilliant operations or by blunders by the front-runner.

This was the situation at the 1956 Democratic convention, when Adlai Stevenson had a clear lead but New York Gov. Averell Harriman, with President Truman's backing, still hoped for a miracle.

This is the situation in Los Angeles, with Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts far in the lead, and the other contenders trying to work out a combination of powers to stop him.

3. A fluid situation—with no candidate near the victory level. This requires enough strong candidates with enough votes to form combinations and deals.

It happened at the 1952 Democratic convention. On the first ballot, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee had 240 votes; Stevenson, 273; Sen. Richard Russell, 288; Harriman, 123½; Sen. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma, 50 and nine other favorite-son candidates had smaller bunches.

The game was over when Harriman and some favorite sons tossed their votes to Stevenson on the third ballot.

In such a situation, even before television cameras, a convention cannot acquire the orderly and deliberative atmosphere of Rome's College of Cardinals.

CONVICTED OF BURGLARY

BECOMES PRINCIPAL

DOVER, Ohio (AP)—Albert J. Kauber, 54, assistant superintendent of schools here since July 1, 1959, has accepted a position as principal of Chillicothe High School, effective Aug. 1. He has been acting superintendent here since July 8. Kauber, who has served 17 years as executive head of various school districts in Ohio, came here from Licking County, where he was located seven years.

OHIO LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The executive committee of the Ohio Volunteers for Nixon will launch the organization's presidential campaign for Vice President Richard M. Nixon at a meeting July 18.

Peter H. Flanagan of New York, national director of the Volunteers for Nixon, will be principal speaker at the all-afternoon session. Most of the meeting will be devoted to a workshop at which suggestions for policies and methods of procedure will be discussed.

100 Huddle In Mountain For Doomsday

COURMAYEUR, Italy (AP)—This is doomsday for 100 people huddled in a building 7,150 feet up Europe's highest mountain, waiting for someone to set off a

"mercury bomb" and tilt the world off its axis.

The followers of Dr. Elio Bianca, a bearded Milan pediatrician, were sure that the bomb, to be set off accidentally today but by whom they don't know, would send the seas boiling in over the lowlands of the earth. That's why they headed for Mt. Blanc at the start of the month.

Instead of a bomb, the blast may come from a big fireworks display. The police said they had been told that "certain gay young spirits" planned to set off the fireworks at the predicted hour of doom to scare the daylight out of the cultists.

Bianca and his followers were dug in at a "survival" pavilion nearly half way up the 15,780-foot peak in the Alps. They sealed the windows of the lower floor with concrete in case the waters got too high. Cracks in the walls were plugged with cotton to keep out radiation.

There was one hitch in their plan—10 boats they ordered to navigate after the deluge had not arrived from a sporting goods house in Genoa.

NO POLIO CASES

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Health Department says no polio cases have been reported in the state for more than a month and that the total for the entire year is seven. Ohio had 38 cases a this time last year.

OHIO WESLEYAN APPOINTS

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Wesleyan University has announced appointment of Dr. James S. Leslie as the school's director of religious life.

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Paul Miller, head of the Syracuse, N.Y., school system will be the speaker at Miami University's summer commencement on Aug. 31. Miami president John D. Millett said Dr. Miller, a native of Cincinnati and a Miami graduate will receive a doctor of laws degree at the commencement.

Nationals Combine Power, Pitching for 6-0 Win

Six Pitchers Hurl Shutout

Four Home Runs Tie All-Star Record

NEW YORK (AP)—They'll be talking about the second All-Star game for years to come.

Not so much because the Nationals won it for an unprecedented sweep of the two-year-old two game midsummer set to narrow the Americans' over-all margin to 16-13.

Not so much because for only the third time since its inception in 1933 has an All-Star game ended in a shutout, such as Wednesday's 6-0 victory, or for the third time have four home runs been hit by one club.

No so much because for the second time in three days was the victory credited to a Pittsburgh pitcher, Bob Friend won in Kansas City Monday and Vernon Law won in New York Wednesday.

Not so much because in winning, NL Manager Walter Alston accomplished, within 10 months, a grand slam in baseball by winning a pennant, a World Series and two All-Star games, or because in losing, AL Manager Al Lopez suffered his sixth All-Star loss, two as a player, one as a coach, and three as a manager.

The 38,362 paying customers in Yankee Stadium will long remember the second 1960 All-Star game because of the heroics of three really uperlative performers, three players who belong on any All-Star team in any generation—Willie Mays, Stan Musial, and Ted Williams.

Willie Is Spectacular
Willie the Magnificent, back in New York where he last played in 1957, duplicated his spectacular Kansas City performance by smashing a single and home run off New York southpaw Whitey Ford and another single off Detroit right-hander Frank Lary. The San Francisco special also stole a base. In center field, Willie was his magnificent self, making four putouts. One was on a 425-foot smash by Mickey Mantle to deep center which he made look easy. Mays, who also cracked three hits—a single, double, and triple—in the first game, now shows a .438 All-Star average on 14 hits in 32 at bats.

The only person not excited about Mays' performance was Willie himself. "Can't let it go to my head," he said. "When I find myself feeling good about something I done, I remember that next day could be a bad one. And man, I have had some bad ones. Some were so bad I could cry."

At a nearby cubicle in the winning team's clubhouse was another smiling player, the ageless Musial.

Stan "Had Feeling"
"You know," he was saying, "I really had a feeling I was going to hit a homer. I can't explain why you feel that way. But you do."

Stan, at 39, and playing in his 19th All-Star game, was referring to the home run he hit as a pinch hitter off Gerry Staley of Chicago in the seventh inning.

The 41-year-old Boston Red Sox slugger didn't disappoint the fans, either. He slashed a hard single to right as a pinch hitter in the bottom half of the seventh. It was one of the eight hits given up by six NL pitchers.

Williams who, like Musial, is playing his last year, now has 14 hits, which include four home runs, 12 runs batted in, and 10 runs scored in 18 All-Star appearances.

The only American Leaguer to have more than one hit was Hansen. The rookie shortstop had two singles on top of a hit in the first game.

The other National League homers were hit by Milwaukee's Eddie Mathews and St. Louis' Ken Boyer. Mathews, in the midst of a batting slump which caused Alton to drop him from second to sixth in the batting order, hit his off losing pitcher Ford in the sec-

But Why the Two Losses?

'Those Guys Aren't That Good' ---Williams

NEW YORK (AP) — National League 5, American League 3. National League 6, American League 0.

The 1960 All-Star games are over and the NL won 'em both. Is the National really that much better than the AL?

"Hell no!" said Ted Williams as he dressed after Wednesday's

Kart Racing Boom Makes Sport $3 Million Business

A new word has been added to the American sports vocabulary. It's "Karting."

Karting, as a sport, was born some years ago in California when one Art Ingels put together a bodyless, suspensionless self-propelled vehicle made of metal tubing, motorized by a five-horsepower engine and rolling on four wheels that appeared better suited to a wheelbarrow.

The modern kart of today is a far cry from that original prototype. Today, they are made of a durable, yet light-weight tubing. Wheels are of magnesium and specially built. Tire manufacturers have designed special tires to provide greater traction. Braking systems are of modern design similar to the brakes on your passenger car.

Gleaming with polished chrome, the karts of today are built with safety and high performance in mind.

In less than three years the original kart has boomed to a $3 million a year business with more than 250,000 of them in operation today, and 180,000 more expected by the end of this year.

Post-Time Changed At Waterford Park

CHESTER, W. Va. — For the final three weeks of the summer season, which closes on Aug. 6, Waterford Park will start its afternoon racing programs at 2:30 p.m. with post-time for the final race at approximately 5:45, it was announced by President James F. Edwards.

During the earlier weeks of the season twilight racing was featured with first post at 4:15, but the West Virginia course now plans to experiment with an afternoon program in an effort to determine the preference of its patrons. In 1961 a set policy will have been established to carry on throughout the year.

Post-time on Saturdays for the first race will remain at 2 p.m., however.

and inning after a single by teammate Joe Adcock.

The best showing of any of the five American League pitchers was made by Early Wynn, 40, Chicago right-hander. He retired six straight batters in the two innings he worked.

The National used 36 players, a record, and the American 21. The only player who didn't see action in either game was southpaw Dick Stigman of the Cleveland Indians.

shutout defeat in Yankee Stadium. "Those guys just aren't that good. I mean they are not that much better than us that they should take both games," said the Boston Red Sox' Big Guy.

Then he laughed. "Hell, I guess they were saying the same thing 20 years ago, when we were racking them up."

Al Lopez, Chicago White Sox Manager who skipped the AL All-Stars, said he couldn't see a great change between the Nationals of today and the Nationals of yesteryear, when he was NL All-Star catcher.

too," he said. "But if there is a change, I'd say the American League has gone more for pitching lately and the National has gone more for sluggers."

"And our hitting just wasn't as good as their's in these two games."

If you had to pick out just two of the NL sluggers, you'd have to go with Willie Mays and Stan Musial.

Mays, the San Francisco Giants' brilliant center fielder, whipped AL pitchers for six hits in the two games — his second All-Star home run, a triple, a double and three singles.

Musial, the old guy of the St. Louis Cardinals, beat out an infield hit and swatted his sixth All-Star home run in two pinch-hit appearances while playing his 18th and 19th games, a record.

Musial, at 39, put one of the Gerry Staley's pitches deep in the third deck at Yankee Stadium, just inside the foul pole. "And I really wasn't trying to hit one," he said. "The way I've been hitting lately, I just swing for base hits." "It must have made him quite happy," said Williams, tongue in cheek.

As for his own pinch hit single in Wednesday's game, Williams said, "There wasn't much on the pitch (by Larry Jackson) and I didn't get much on it either."

Walt Alston of the Los Angeles NL manager, said, "There was no big secret to our winning either game. We got the hits when we needed them, and they didn't."

New Alexander Wins Behind Engle Brothers

The Engle brothers, Randy and Ricky, teamed up to lead New Alexander to an 8-3 victory over Kensington in a United Baseball League game Tuesday at Kensington.

Randy was the winning pitcher and Ricky swung the hottest bat, rapping out three doubles and a home run in four trips to the plate.

The same two teams will meet again Friday at New Alexander.

The American Football League will play 14 night games next fall. The Boston Patriots will play seven games under lights.

First Landing Favorite In Monmouth

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP)—C.T. Chenery's First Landing, champion 2-year-old of 1958, will be the favorite Saturday in the $100,000-added Monmouth Handicap at Monmouth Park.

A field of about nine is expected for the 1¼-mile race, and First Landing would be the starting top weight under 123 pounds as he goes after his first victory since the Laurel Maturity in April.

Eddie Arcaro, winner of three straight Monmouth Handicaps with Nashua, Dedicate and Bold Ruler starting in 1956, will be back to pilot First Landing. Arcaro, who rode the Chenery 4 year old in his 1958 races and again last year, hasn't been aboard First Landing since he finished out of the money in the Santa Anita Handicap last February.

Ada L. Rice's Talent Show, winner of the Massachusetts Handicap in which First Landing was fourth, and Emil Dolce's Manassah, winner of several handicaps this season, are next in the weights with 117 pounds apiece.

Outdoor Notes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Boating accidents—40 of them during June—on Ohio's recreation waterways are causing the state Division of Watercraft some headaches.

That "hot-rodgers" can be found on the water as well as on the highways was made clear by Jim Wells, administrator of the division.

He said his unit has no enforcement authority, but must rely on state park, wildlife and conservancy district officers, sheriffs and other local peace officers to curb reckless operation.

"The numbering of every boat, as required by Ohio law, can greatly aid enforcement officers in nabbing chronically careless and reckless boat operators," Wells said, adding that "hot-rod" operation of boats is as criminally dangerous as careless drivers on the highways.

S. I. Bastian, district park manager for southeastern Ohio, says camp sites at Old Man's Cave in Hocking County State Park, and at Lake Hope State Park, offer the most possibilities for campers.

"These areas offer more spacious camp sites and are the best bets for campers in this section of the state," he said. "Camping also is available in pleasant surroundings at Alma State Park, Vinton County, and Blue Rock State Park in Muskingum County, but facilities are more limited."

Some good catches of fish have been reported from Burr Oak Lake in Athens and Morgan counties where a vegetation cutter has been busy opening channels in the dense growth of water weeds. Dwight Hartley of Gloucester caught 18 largemouth bass in one day recently, and they weighed up to 3½ pounds each. G. W. Drumm of Somerset is leading the contest being held by one of the boat docks for weighing in 301 pounds of bluegills thus far. Drumm caught these fish in 22 trip since May 23. Plenty of other anglers are having good luck.

A 20-pound, 5-ounce flathead catfish has been taken by Wayne Perkins of Mansfield, fishing with a trot line in Charles Mill Reservoir north of old U.S. 30 in Richland County. The flathead is rarely taken in impounded waters, more often is found in major streams of the state, such as the Ohio, Scioto or Muskingum.

The first wild turkey brood of the year has been reported by Charles McKibben, Division of Wildlife employee. The sighting was in the Raccoon State Forest in Vinton County where birds have been stocked in previous years. Wild turkeys are not secretive in their habits, and are difficult to spot even when game biologists are hunting for them. Several adults were observed last spring during game census time, but wildlife officials say it is a red-letter day when a brood of poult is seen.

Al Cannon, Wildlife District 4 game manager, said this week marks the beginning of the Reeves pheasant releases for the year in southeastern Ohio. Adult birds, surplus breeding stock from the game farm at Waterloo, will be released in five Ohio River counties. These adults will number 550.

In addition distribution will begin in six-week-old Reeves' pheasants to sportsmen's clubs cooperating with the 50 - 59 program. Clubs build pens and feed the birds, and the pheasants fly out on their own when old enough. Twenty-five clubs will receive 100 birds each this year, in Harrison, Jefferson, Belmont, Washington, Perry, Carroll, Tuscarawas, Morgan and Guernsey counties.

TAKES FIRST AT HAMILTON

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Norway, a 10-year-old black gelding that has made 33 starts this season, found the muddy Hamilton Raceway track to his liking Wednesday night and came from behind to win a featured Class C handicap pace.

Norway, driven by co-owner Homer Ballard of Oak Park, Ill., was timed at 2:26 for the mile and paid $16.20.

Wall, Souchak Head Western Open Field

DETROIT (AP)—Art Wall Jr. and Mike Souchak, riding two of golf's hottest streaks, headline a classy field of 161 that tees off today in the $25,000 Western Open Golf Tournament.

Wall, the man with the magic touch around the greens, was 19 strokes under par last week in winning the Canadian Open. A few days before, he finished in a second-place tie in the Flint Open. Souchak won that one, holing a seven-foot putt from the 18th green in the final round for a one-stroke victory.

Toronto Continues Hex Over Buffalo

By The Associated Press

The Toronto Maple Leafs found a couple of shortcuts in taking a bead on the International League pennant this year.

One is the combination of timely hitting and airtight pitching. The other seems to be the ability to beat their closest rival, the Buffalo Bisons.

The Leafs made it 11 victories in 15 games against the Bisons Wednesday night with a 3-2 and 2-0 doubleheader sweep that was highlighted by secret No. 1—timely hitting and airtight pitching. The double win boosted the Leafs to an 111 game lead over the second-place Bisons.

Miami handed Jersey City its second straight loss since the former Havana team moved its franchise, 2-0.

At the same time all the Cuban members of the team decided to remain with the club throughout its stay in Jersey City this season.

Kent Hunt's grand slam home run powered the Richmond Vees to a 4-0 victory over Columbus while Montreal and Rochester split a doubleheader. Rochester won the first game 6-10, the Royals the nightcap 5-4.

ROBIN FRY LINED UP CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—Robin Fry of Middletown, Ohio, will take part in the 11-year-old division of a nationwide tennis tournament next week. Fry has been the No. 1 player in his division in the Midwest for the past two years. The tournament is sponsored by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

Liston Says He'll K.O. Folley Monday

DENVER (AP)—Sonny Liston says his sleep potion is prepared for Zora Folley who's scheduled to fight the Philadelphia knockout artist for 12 rounds Monday night in the Denver Coliseum.

"Folley talks about going 12 rounds," Liston scoffed at a training session Wednesday. "I'll see that he don't go 12 rounds — I'll give him the sleep potion."

The slumber drug is a knockout punch embraced in Liston's 14½ inch left fist. The potion, usually applied with a left hook, has sent to dreamland 20 of Liston's opponents in 30 bouts. He's lost only one.

Folley, a slick boxer from Chandler, Ariz., says little about the approaching bout that may give the winner a title shot at heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson. Liston is rated No. 1 and Folley No. 2 in the latest Ring magazine.

"I never look at the record book," Folley said of Liston's impressive knockout performance. "I just fight my fight when I get in the ring."

FAMILY PUTS 2,000 MILES A MONTH ON CORVAIR THINKS IT'S MARVELOUS GAS MILEAGE "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting — "at least twenty-three miles to the gallon on an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby stroller.

64 Top Amateurs Seek Ohio Golfing Laurels

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's top flight amateur golfers—64 of them from 16 cities—swung into four days of match play today in quest of the 54th state championship.

Zanesville Country Club's 7,020-yard course was the battleground as 63 qualifiers from a starting field of 205 joined defending champion Tony Blom of Cincinnati in the man-to-man matches.

Blom, 32, eased into match play without qualifying. His first foe in today's double round of 18-hole contests was Robin Obetz of Columbus, who fired a 36-hole qualifying score of 152, eight over par, and 10 strokes back of the 142 with which Dan Carmichael of Columbus won medal honors.

Carmichael, Binkley Meet

Carmichael, who finished two ahead of 30-year-old Robert Hoag of Columbus and 1955 champion Bob Rankin of Zanesville, opens today against Bill Binkley of Dayton, who qualified with 152.

Columbus grabbed a third of the qualifying spots as 21 Capital City club swingers moved into match play. Cincinnati has 8 entrants, Zanesville 7, Dayton and Cleveland 5, Youngstown 4, Mansfield 3, Hamilton and Newark 2, and Cambridge, Sandusky, Athens, Elyria, Cuyahoga Falls, Akron and Middletown 1 each.

Carmichael, a 41-year-old architect, who starred in several sports at Princeton and won fame as a Naval Air Corps ace in World War II, ripped two strokes off par in Wednesday's rain soaked round after matching par 72 in the opener.

In his medal-winning bid, he ignored the elements. After hitting his tee shot out of bounds on the tenth hole, he birdied four of the next eight.

Savie Skids to 79

Pandel Savic of Columbus, who paced the opening round with 71, skidded to 79 in the second round, and 16 players crept past him.

Dick Schwartz of Youngstown, Ed Preistler of Cleveland and John Florio of Columbus, all former winners of the amateur crown, failed to qualify for match play. So did former state public links champions Dick Rhyman and Dave Daniels, both of Columbus.

Dr. Frank Bellino of Youngstown, who failed to qualify last year at Cincinnati, made a big try for the medal as he put together a 73-72-145. That tied him with Mike Kozar, son of a Cuyahoga Falls professional, and Don Albert of Columbus, former Big Ten champion.

Of the 64 finalists, seven are from the public links contingent, and the others from private clubs. Today's matches will cut the field to 16 by nightfall, and only four will be left after Friday's play.

Saturday's semifinals and Sunday's championship will be decided at 36 holes.

No Salem area golfers were among those qualifying yesterday.

Arthur Rohrer of Columbus had a carded an 82-82-164. John Sixt of East Liverpool posted an 84-79-163, and Dr. Arthur Cloran, also of East Liverpool, carded a 91-79-170.

One of the pairings for this morning's round pits Steve Pipoly, 148, of Youngstown against Arthur Hudnutt, 154, of Elyria.

Cincy Hall of Fame To Induct Pair

CINCINNATI (AP)—The names of Eddie Roush and Ewell Blackwell will be added to the Cincinnati Reds' own Hall of Fame.

Roush, the old time outfielder, and Blackwell, the pitcher with the baffling crossfire delivery, were picked for the Hall of Fame by a vote of fans. The results of the voting were announced Wednesday.

Roush twice led the National League in batting while playing with the Reds from 1916 to 1926. He also was with the team in 1931.

Blackwell bowed out of baseball after his arm went bad in 1951. He had a 22-8 record in 1947, a year in which he posted 16 consecutive victories. He also came within two outs of pitching two consecutive no-hitters that year.

Other former Reds in the Cincinnati Hall of Fame are Ernie Lombardi, Frank McCormick, Bucky Walters, Paul Derringer, Johnny Vander Meer, Epps Rixey and Ival Goodman.

SPORT FACTS

Eddie Arcaro has won the Coaching Club American Oaks 3-year-old filly race twice. He scored with How in 1961 and with Real Delight in 1962.

Pittsburgh Resumes Drive Toward Flag

By The Associated Press

Harvey Haddix, the little Pittsburgh left-hander who pitched 12 perfect innings and still couldn't beat Milwaukee a year ago, opens the second half of the 1960 season tonight shooting for his fifth victory in a row against the Braves.

Milwaukee, five games behind the front-running Pirates in the National League, counters with it ace lefty, Warren Spahn, a fellow who used to beat the Pirates as regularly as the Braves once beat Haddix.

The game at Pittsburgh is the only one scheduled for the day after the second All-Star game in New York. The majors' three-day respite started Monday when the National League beat the American 5-3 in the first 1960 All-Star game in Kansas City. Then the Nationals made it a sweep with a 6-0 followup Wednesday.

Tonight's game is a makeup. Friday, Cincinnati comes into Pittsburgh, Milwaukee goes to Philadelphia, Chicago is at St. Louis, and Los Angeles, the hottest team in the NL, is at San Francisco.

In the American League, action resumes Friday with New York, in front by 2½ games, at Detroit, Washington at second-place Cleveland, Baltimore at Chicago, and Boston at Kansas City.

On May 26, 1959, Haddix pitched the unprecedented 12 perfect innings against the Braves, then lost in the 13th on one hit.

Texans Battle In Trans-Miss.

Defending Champ Dumped from Event

CINCINNATI (AP) — If there are any complaints about the 30th annual women's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament, they must be coming from Texas.

The Lone Star State qualified three girls for the championship flight, but the pairings placed them so close together only one will be left when today's third round is finished. They will have killed each other off.

Wanda Sowell of Tyler, Tex., eliminated Sandra Palmer of Fort Worth Wednesday. Today she faced another foe from her own state, tiny Sandra Haynie of Austin, who was the hottest shooter in the field in Wednesday's second round. Miss Haynie was five under par Wednesday in crushing Mrs. Bert Craig of Cincinnati, 7 and 6.

Miss Haynie, a high school senior, is twice Texas state champion at the age of 17. Miss Sowell is the current Texas public links champion. Wednesday's second round brought the elimination of the defending champion, Ann Casey Johnstone of Mason City, Iowa. She was a 3 and 2 victory over blonde Barbara Slobe, 20, a typist from Waukegan, Ill., the 1958 Illinois women's champion.

That left Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, Md., as the only former winner of the Trans-Miss. still in the field. Miss Downey, who won in 1951, had to go 19 holes to win from Diana Hoke of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Berle's victory in the Coaching Club American Oaks gave jockey Eric Guerin his third win in the state, who was the hottest

Columbiana Board to Seek New 2-Mill Levy

COLUMBIANA — Columbiana school district voters will be asked at the November election to approve an additional 2-mill operating levy, the board of education has decided.

The new levy is aimed principally at providing funds for operation of the proposed new south side elementary building, another issue to be up for voter approval in the fall.

The levy action was made public when the board approved its budget for the calendar year 1961, showing among the estimated receipts an item of $26,500 it hopes to secure from the additional 2-mill levy, which will be asked for a two-year period. The district currently has 9 mills of the operating revenue from outside of the 10-mill limitation, and 4.6 mills inside. If approved, the levy would put the school district's total operating millage at 15.6 mills.

The budget, approved by the board and forwarded to the county budget commission for final okay, lists estimated receipts of over $416,700 for 1961 from the following sources:

General property tax, $180,261; school foundation program, $170,000; additional 2-mill levy, $26,500; teacher and employee retirement, $34,000 and other, $6,000.

Major anticipated expenditures listed in the budget include: Instruction, $280,000; contribution to teachers' retirement system, $29,600; operation and maintenance of schools, including non-faculty personnel and other expenses, $46,000; administration, $18,500; transportation of pupils, $14,400.

PLANS FOR THE new levy year were outlined briefly by several major committee chairmen and directors at the Rotary Club meeting this week.

Speakers included L. A. Way Jr., president; Elmer Detwiler Jr., vice president; Robert Williams, vocational service committee chairman; Ed Altomare, community service; Randall Sigle, international service; Ray McCormick, club service, and Dr. W. D. Jones, youth service.

Kiwanis Club members at their meeting at Firestone Park, in a brief session preceding softball practice, heard reports on the recent international convention of the service club from Lloyd Crawford, vice president, and Walter Crawford, who attended the meetings at Miami, Fla.

Medical Research Bill Becomes Law

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday signed into law a bill setting up a new program of international medical research.

The program would be financed largely through U. S.-owned foreign currencies obtained for surplus farm commodities which this country sends abroad.

These currencies, plus some direct federal grants, would be used for furnishing equipment to hospitals and laboratories abroad, training of foreign scientists in this country and U. S. scientists overseas, translation and distribution services, and many other purposes.

The program would support planning for research into disease and disease prevention on a world wide basis, and encourage international coordination of medical research programs.

The U. S. Public Health Service would have charge of the program, called "Health for Peace" by its supporters.

Sen. Lister Hill (D-Ala), principal sponsor of the bill, said in a statement there is "no doubt that this legislation will produce dividends that are beyond price—dividends that can be expressed only in terms of the hundreds of thousands of lives that can and will be saved in our country and through the world in the years ahead."

The bill finally sent to the President was a sharply cut-down version of Hill's original proposal.

Hill's bill as passed by the Senate would have set up a new institute for international medical research at the National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., under the Public Health Service.

The original bill also would have authorized spending 50 million dollars annually for the program.

WE ARE HAVING OUR FACE LIFTED! The familiar "old look" is fast changing! There is a complete remodeling program now going on at our store.

JUST AS styles and seasons change so does the make-up of a store — and the plans for ours are modern and designed to make your shopping a really pleasant venture.

TO BEGIN with, the Yard Goods department will be re-located on the mezzanine. This will be a Sewing Center with its colorful array of fabrics and sewing accessories and patterns. The Sewing Machine department will also be on the mezzanine.

THERE WILL BE a complete Infants and Children's Wear department on the main floor. Adjacent to the Men's Wear department will be the new Boy's Wear department.

THE LINEN department will be re-located in the downstairs store.

THE READY-TO-WEAR and Sportswear departments will remain in their present locations but their surroundings will be entirely new.

THE PAINTERS, carpenters and decorators are working in these two departments now and through all the dust and fuss will come a Ready-To-Wear department with soft tones of beige and pink, new lighting, new fitting rooms, new ideas.

OF COURSE, this cannot be done without some inconveniences to you, our customers, and we realize it. Please bear with us through these weeks and we know you will be happy with the results.

WATCH THIS SPACE each week as we will tell you more about our plans to make shopping at McCulloch's a greater pleasure.

One Hundred Years of Signal Achievements

The U.S. Army Signal Corps celebrated its 100th anniversary recently. It has been a century of progress in the science of communication—from signaling by flag, torch and telegraph along the Potomac and at Manila Bay to a communications satellite relaying messages from space. Founder of the Signal Corps as a separate branch was an Army surgeon, Maj. Albert J. Myer (later brigadier general). He was named Signal Officer of the Army in 1860, director of the first full-time signaling service of a national army. In 1863, a formal signal corps was established. After the Civil War, signalmen erected thousands of miles of telegraph lines across the country moved westward. Pictures above illustrate some of the long history of the corps. Men with crossed flags on their collars were at Bull Run and Gettysburg, the Philippines, France, North Africa and Korea. Some of their technical accomplishments include the Myer flag and code system, field telegraphs, the nation's first weather service, the first military dirigible and airplane, the first American radar, radar contact with the moon, the first communications satellite (Project SCORE) and weather satellite (Vanguard II). Now under its 18th Chief Signal Officer, the U.S. Army Signal Corps continues its tradition of service. Some present projects: a miniaturized, push-button telephone, improved jet surveillance drones and a tactical, decision-making machine for the field.

World War I aces Eddie Rickenbacker and Douglas Campbell wore Signal Corps insignia when they flew 90-h.p. Nieuports.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

It was 7:25 on the evening of June 29 and the President of the United States was halfway down the stairs of the Washington

Victor Riesel

They were escorting the President from the big labor banquet he had just addressed.

I forgot, he said, to tell them that George Meany (AFL-CIO president) in Europe now symbolizes the kind of thing I said was labor's constructive role in international affairs.

Mitchell had not yet spoken. When he returned to the aids, he told the union leaders that the President had asked especially that his praise of Meany's work abroad be passed on.

Those 10 minutes on June 29 are characteristic of almost eight futile years of the administration's effort to effect some reconciliation between the Republican party and the labor leaders.

THERE WERE 800 there that night and not a single Republican among them—at least not one who would say so publicly.

In fact, even as they were breaking bread in honor of Jim Mitchell and listening to the President, labor's political strategists were preparing anti-Eisenhower material.

They were taking no chance that Eisenhower may have won some of labor's sympathy as a result of that night or of the White House's active aid during the past seven years.

Actually there are only two national officials of any consequence who have spoken out for Richard Nixon.

They are Lee Minton, president of the Glass Bottle Blowers Union and Morris Weissberger, head of the Sailors Union of the Pacific. The anti-Eisenhower literature was distributed by the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) during the week preceding the Democratic convention.

There was no semblance of labor's officially stated neutrality. There was nothing personal in the anti-Eisenhower-Nixon sentiment.

What is historically important here is that the union leaders, heading into final post-war normalcy and a series of showdowns with major industries, frankly want an avowed friend in the White House.

IT WAS OBVIOUS and acknowledged, in all of the conferences of the hundreds of labor leaders just before they headed for LA that they did not even want a neutral neutral.

It is only "from another Franklin D. Roosevelt type President" that they can get what they believe they need in the coming eight years. Such cooperation was promised by John Kennedy and Adlai Stevenson and some darker horses. What is it they asked for?

Walter Reuther, for example, would like the government to create a new agency to hold public hearings on corporation economic and pricing policies. This agency would have power to subpoena witnesses and records.

The Steelworkers' David McDonald wants a law which would slash the work week to 30 or at most 32 hours. In the steel industry he would institute a four-day work week.

GEORGE MEANY, being national spokesman, naturally was wider in scope. He asked the Democrats for a pledge to repeal all state right-to-work laws. The statute exists in 19 states where it prohibits the union shop and the dues checkoff.

He bluntly urged the end of southern control of Congress by taking the committee chairman ships from such men as Virginia's Howard Smith, head of the all powerful House Ways and Means Committee. Meany asked for heavier taxes on corporations, the cutting of the Federal Reserve Board's independence.

Together, the labor leaders called for the expenditures of scores of billions of dollars for medical aid and vast construction projects. Together they asked for heavier revisions of the Taft-Hartley law and the new Landrum Griffin Act's picketing sections.

In Los Angeles they were pledged all this and more. That is to be expected.

It won't be so in Chicago. In many areas, labor is the Democratic party. Those areas will grow with the years.

"The Lovely World of Richi-San" by Allan R. Bosworth. The true story of a deep friendship between an American naval officer and a Japanese family in post-war Tokyo. Excursions to observe the beauty of the Japanese countryside, English lessons for Richi-San, lessons in Japanese customs for Capt. Bosworth all go to make an informative and entertaining book.

"Reflection of an Angry Middle-Aged Editor" by James A. Weschler. Mr. Weschler says he is angry because nobody else is - that the trouble with Americans today is that they do not care enough about anything, or if they do care, they are afraid to say anything. He speaks of individuals and of organizations, of men who are currently candidates for the Presidency, and of others who have been in the public news.

"Puerto Rico, Land of Wonders" by Earl Parker Hanson. Changes in Puerto Rico in the past five years.

"American Panorama West of the Mississippi" by Holiday magazine. Individual portraits of the 24 states west of the Mississippi, including Alaska and Hawaii. Illustrated with photographs in color.

"New York" by Erica Anderson, with explanatory texts by Louis P. Lochbar. Thirty lovely color photographs of places of historic or scenic interest in New York. Not a guide book, but a picture book to enjoy, whether you know the places or whether you have never been there.

"Yankee Kingdom" by Ralph Nading Hill. Here we have Vermont and New Hampshire by a native Vermonter, who is also a writer of more than ordinary ability. We find here rare and delicious Yankee anecdotes, Indian massacres, heroes of the Revolution, famous men in our early history, and highlights about nearly every city and town in this most interesting part of our country.

"Dempsey" by the man himself as told to Bob Considine and Bill Slocum. Dempsey tells the story of his years as a poor boy, a hobo, a shipyard worker, and of course his years of fame as well. The book, like the man, is colorful and dramatic.

"Nancy Astor" by Maurice Collins. A lively telling of the public and private life of a lively woman. American born, she married the richest man in the world, Lord Astor, and then instead of being "idle rich" she ran for the House of Commons, was elected and served there for many years - as she said "trying to get things done." Much is included also about her many famous friends.

"Wide Meadows" by Jean Bell Mosley. The Missouri Ozarks are a rather special place to many people and this book seems to bring them to one in all their freshness and the fun-loving, hard-working people right along with them.

"Better Vacations for Your Money" by Michael Frome. Thirteen chapters give a well-rounded list of tips on what to do and not to try to do. The remainder of the book is devoted to descriptions of fifteen different trips to the U.S. and Canada. Illustrated with photographs and maps.

"Of Mice, Men and Molecules" by John H. Heller. If, like many never wondered what basic research is, the question is answered in a most fascinating manner in this book. For instance, one problem these researchers had to solve was how to inject a shark with radioactive carbon. Although the subjects discussed are highly technical, Dr. Heller can discuss them in terms entirely understandable to the layman.

"Medicine Today" by Marguerite Clark. An overview for the layman of what is going on in the field of medicine today. We learn of new techniques in surgery and radiation, new drugs, new methods of prevention of many common diseases. Even bits of good advice can be found interspersed in these interesting pages.

"The Life and Works of Antoni Von Leeuwenhoek" by A. Schierbeek. It is almost four hundred years since this insatiably curious man constructed an efficient microscope and began studying microbes, plants and animals invisible to the naked eye, and to look at tissue from animals under his strong glass. True, he made no attempt to classify nor even to name the creatures he saw, but he established many scientific facts new to men of his day - even many facts not generally known until our own day.

Soldiers' Home at Dayton

The National Home For Disabled Volunteer Soldiers was originated in 1866 from a joint resolution of the two houses of Congress. The Eastern Branch opened near Augusta, Maine in November 1866. The Central Branch at Dayton opened the following year and was followed by the Northwestern Branch at Milwaukee, the Southern Branch at Hampton, Virginia, and the Western Branch at Leavenworth, Kansas.

The Dayton Soldiers' Home has an area of nearly one square mile. It is a spot of great beauty with fine buildings, greenhouses, and flower beds. Thousands visit it each year.

Gothamites and Tourists

By M. R. DYE

"Are you enjoying your visit to our great city?" "Aren't all these tourists a pain in the neck?"

In an effort to find out how this traditionally cold, indifferent, greedy city treats the outlander, this reporter wandered all over town last week asking this semi-loaded question of the swarms of tourists who are crowding New Yorkers off the sidewalks these summer days.

The same time, I was asking this equally loaded question of New Yorkers:

It was no problem to find subject. The New York Convention and Visitors Bureau estimates that New York sees more than five million vacationists (in addition to three million convention visitors and an uncounted multitude of business travelers) in the course of a year. Most of them come here in the summertime.

And, while New Yorkers traditionally flee the city during the hot months, there were still plenty of them around.

Perhaps surprisingly, both the city and the visitors came up with pretty high ratings.

But it is no love affair. There are gripes on both sides.

THE THING the little old lady from Dubuque likes:

1. "There's so much to see. And so much of it is free and the rest is surprisingly inexpensive."
2. "The transportation. So convenient."
3. "Everybody is so helpful."
4. "There's such an air of vitality. Everybody seems to be going someplace and doing something."
5. "The service. You are treated like royalty."

The things her cousin from Des Moines dislikes:

1. "There's nothing to see."
2. "The transportation. If we had to put up with it in my home town, even for a day, we'd march on City Hall."
3. "Nobody will give you the time of day."
4. "These people are rushing around like madmen. Where are they going? Why don't they relax?"
5. "The service. They snarl at you and then do everything but hold a gun on you for a tip. Doesn't anyone here ever say 'thank you'?"

NEW POSTAL TRUCKS — You'll soon be seeing this new type U.S. mail truck rolling around city streets. The Post Office Department has ordered 3,210 from Willys. They will be sit-stand vehicles with right-hand drive, automatic shift.

first, but it's a mannerism rather than real coldness."

A WOMAN who manages a small, moderately priced hotel:

"People either love this city or hate it. I have had people who come in in the morning and leave before night. New York terrifies them."

"We don't get many complaints. A few people are taken, but they ask for it."

"The people we get are on budgets. They know how much they can afford to spend, they know the value of a dollar, and they expect to get their money's worth. They do, and they manage to have a good time."

"Tourists today are pretty smart. This house is full of them right now. We don't advertise out of town, but people find their way here. Maybe they spend a night or so in a luxury hotel, but they end up here or in a place like it for the rest of their visit."

"I feel sorry for people who don't know what to do with them-

Hanoverton

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My next-door neighbor and I are both expecting babies in a couple of months. Our 4-year-olds are only two weeks apart. They play together constantly. The neighbor's little girl has asked no questions. My Nancy is a human question box and nothing escapes her notice. Last week she asked why I was wearing such a "fat dress" and I told her what was happening. She was very excited at the prospect of having a new baby in the family.

Yesterday my neighbor came storming into my house. She was purple with rage and screamed, "Your Nancy told my Carol that you are growing a baby and she wanted to know if I am, too. I had told her the stork story and now you've made a liar out of me!"

She claims I had no business telling a 4-year-old about babies and I owe her an apology. Do I?—UP-SET.

Dear Upset: You didn't make a liar out of your neighbor. She made one out of herself. No apology is due. A mother who peddles the stork story deserves exactly what your neighbor got.

Any child who is old enough to notice a physical change and ask questions is old enough to hear the truth. The story can be told in simple and beautiful language with no scientific or clinical detail. If a mother feels incept, she can buy any one of several fine books which outline a presentation for pre-school children.

Dear Ann: My husband's boss is getting married soon. A church wedding and large reception have been planned.

The invitation which came to our house was addressed not to my husband. We are not social friends but I did meet the couple a few times and they were pleasant.

My husband feels bad that I was not invited and he is seriously considering not going. I'm urging him to go without me rather than create bad feelings. Do you think this was poor manners and should be overlooked? Or should my husband stay away from the wedding and tell them why later?—JOAN.

Dear Joan: Chances are your name was left off the invitation unintentionally. Suggest that your husband mention it to the boss in a half-kidding way. It will save wear and tear on everybody and the boss will admire his bigness. Suggested statement: "Joan's name wasn't on the wedding invitation but she's coming anyway. She wouldn't miss your wedding for the world."

Bored Visitor

Dear Ann: I visit a certain friend every several weeks. I've known her for years and she always was the type who liked to put on the dog.

Whenever I'm in her home, the phone rings and she gets involved in long conversations (at least 30 minutes). It's usually her daughter-in-law or another friend.

In my opinion it's plain rude for her to leave me sitting alone while she yaks about trifles. It seems as if she intentionally drags out the conversation to irritate me.

Should I sit there like a bump on a log or would it be better to teach her a lesson and leave—JG.

Dear Ignored: It is extremely impolite to carry on a friendly 30-minute telephone conversation while a guest is present. An emergency call is different but there's no excuse for casually fanning the breeze.

The next time you're in her home and the phone rings tell her you know how much she likes to chat on the phone and if she's going to be longer than five minutes you'll come back another time. Give her 10—and if she's still on the horn—leave.

Banana Bread

Ingredients: 1½ cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, 1-3 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 cup ready-to-eat bran, 2 tablespoons water, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1½ cups mashed bananas, 2-3 cup pecans.

Method: Sift together the flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Cream shortening and sugar; beat in egg. Stir in bran, water, lemon juice and mashed bananas.

Stir in sifted dry ingredients and pecans just until moistened. Turn batter into well-greased heat-resistant glass loaf pan (about 8 by 4½ by 2 inches).

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

Loosen edges with spatula; turn out on wire rack; turn right side up; cool.

Raspberries Make Cool Dessert

July is the month of fresh raspberries, those most wonderful of berries. So let's enjoy them while the brief season lasts.

Fresh Raspberry Refrigerator
Two pints fresh raspberries, 1-3 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract, 2 cups (1 pint) heavy cream, 3 packages (3 ounces each) lady fingers.

Rinse raspberries lightly and set aside to drain. Save out a few for garnish. Add sugar and vanilla extract to cream and beat until it is stiff enough to stand in soft, stiff peaks.

Fill an 8-inch spring form pan with alternating layers of lady fingers, raspberries and whipped cream, beginning with lady fingers and ending with cream. Chill overnight or 10 to 12 hours.

Just before serving, remove the sides from the spring-form pan and place cake on a serving plate. Stand remaining lady fingers around the sides of the mold. Garnish as desired with the raspberries saved for that purpose.

Fresh Raspberry Souffle Pie

(Yield: 6 servings)
One-third cup sugar, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, ¼ teaspoon of salt, 1 egg yolk, 1 whole egg, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon pure vanilla teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice.

Combine the first 3 ingredients in top part of a double boiler. Beat in egg yolk and whole egg. Gradually stir in milk.

Cook over hot water (not boiling) 8 to 10 minutes or until very thick, stirring constantly. (This may be cooked in a saucepan over very low heat if watched closely).

Remove from heat and beat with a rotary beater 1 minute or until fluffy. Cool and stir in vanilla extract. Pour into a cold baked pie crust.

Cover with 2 cups of raspberries. Combine remaining ingredients in the small bowl of the electric beater. Beat until very stiff. Spread over the top of the pie. Garnish with whole fresh raspberries.

Ingredients: 1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon corn oil, 1/4 cup finely chopped onion, 1 clove garlic (crushed), 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 3 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce, 1 medium-sized eggplant, lemon, 1 egg, 1/4 cup milk, flour (for dusting), corn oil (for frying), 1/2 pound Mozzarella cheese (sliced), 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Method: Heat 1/4 cup of the oil; add onions and garlic and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until yellowed.

tomato sauce; simmer about 30 minutes. Meanwhile pare eggplant and cut into 1/4 inch slices; brush each slice with lemon juice. Beat egg slightly; beat in milk and 1 tablespoon oil. Dust each eggplant slice with flour, patting well to remove excess flour. Dip into batter; drain in large skillet (about 12 inches) fry on both sides in 2 tablespoons oil, using more oil as needed, until golden brown. In a 2-quart baking dish alternate layers of sauce, eggplant and Mozzarella; top with Parmesan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Sandwich Sports Meat, Cheese, Go-Alongs

Heroes are made at home. All you need are crusty loaves of bread, a variety of meats and cheeses and some savory go-alongs and you can have the biggest easy-to-prepare snacks of the season. Modern ways have helped along these sandwiches. Originally they were concocted from loaves of crusty Italian or French bread that had to be bought in special bakery shops. Now this type of bread is found in many large markets, and it is also widely available in brown-and-serve form. Take your choice of meat for the Hero sandwich. Ham is present in the best of them — either plain boiled or leftover baked ham. The Italian — style ham called prosciutto is a great addition. Of delicate flavor, it's extremely lean and aged in spices. Usually it is cut lengthwise, but it's perfectly okay to cut it across the grain. Just one "must" about prosciutto — it must be sliced paper thin. DO YOU KNOW your dry sausages? They make good eating in a Hero sandwich. These are sometimes called Summer Sausage because when they were first made long ago, there was no refrigeration and their formulas were worked out with summertime storage in mind. Among the dry sausages are all sorts of salami and cervelat. Italian salami, made of coarsely chopped pork and finely chopped lean beef, is particularly suitable for Hero sandwiches. Cervelat comes in coarse, medium or fine texture. Another good choice, among dry sausages, is Capicola. It's on the large fat side and resembles Canadian bacon. Made of pork butt, it has a mild flavor. Similar to Capicola but hotter in flavor is Coppa. FOR HERO sandwiches choose Italian, Swiss or cheddar-type cheese. Classic go-alongs include peppers, pickles, tomatoes, onion (red preferably) and olive oil. For an especially distinctive accompaniment, serve homemade mustard. An easy way to have a picnic is to take along the makings of Hero sandwiches and then let the guests put together their own snacks. If you want to serve iced tea, tote it in a picnic jug. An easy way to make 2 quarts of tea is to bring 3 cups of water to a boil in a saucepan. Add 1-3 cup loose tea (off heat) and allow to brew for 3 to 5 minutes, then stir it up and strain it, adding 5 cups of cold water.

Cool Salad Tempts Appetites

As the weather gets warmer, appetites begin to lag. So, in order to keep your family in high lunc-eon spirits conjure up some eye-appealing menus and keep them at your fingertips. Begin with a salad — an attractive arrangement of canned sliced jellied cranberry sauce and canned peach halves placed alternately on a bed of salad greens. Wedges of cream cheese are the hearty garnishes. The dressing is a sweet one, Honey Apple, tastily prepared with honey, lemon juice, canned apple sauce and whipped cream. Good served with this fruit salad are hot chicken sandwiches. To prepare them, add drained canned chicken cut into bite size pie-es to canned chicken gravy. Stir in some chopped pimiento and peanuts. Serve over toast points. Cranberry Peach Salad 1 head lettuce or other greens, 1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese, 1 can (1 lb.) peach halves, 1 can (8 oz.) jellied cranberry sauce, Honey Apple Dressing. Put lettuce cups on individual salad plates or line a serving bowl. Shred the remaining lettuce and put in the cups. Cut cream cheese into cubes or wedges and sprinkle over lettuce. Drain chilled peaches and slice cranberry sauce. Arrange on top of lettuce. Pass Honey Apple Dressing. Five to six servings.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Ear Ailments Affect Balancing Ability

If you've ever watched a chicken hawk soar high in the air, you must have wondered at the delicacy of the mechanism that permits the bird to maintain its balance by merely shifting or fluttering its outstretched wings every once in a while.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

And, at the same time, you must have wondered equally at the skill of the tightrope walker who glides across the arena without anything to cling to but an open umbrella held over his head.

That's why the tightrope walker focuses his sight on the stretched wire. Then, the split second his eyes notify the spirit level that he's wandered off the true, signals go out to the muscles to make the needed adjustments.

He teeters a bit from side to side, and manipulates the umbrella while you and I hold our breath in excitement. And before we can count to three he's gotten himself righted and is advancing toward the goal.

Now when gremlins get into this delicate balancing mechanism, the afflicted person usually complains of dizziness (vertigo) or unsteadiness (ataxia).

IF THE TROUBLE is in the inner ear, where the spirit level is located, the vertigo and ataxia are often accompanied by deafness or a fairly constant ringing sound (tinnitus).

I've given you a word-picture of this complex mechanism so you will understand what a tough job faces your doctor. He may have to send you to an ear, eye and nerve specialist.

Fortunately, he can solve your problem quite easily most of the time. Sometimes, the ringing and deafness are due to nothing worse than a ball of wax jammed against your eardrum.

SOMETIMES the mechanism has been thrown out of whack by industrial chemicals to which you are exposed at work (gasoline, kerosene or naphtha).

Sometimes the staggers are a result of an alcoholic hangover or of nicotineism.

Your troubles could be caused, too, by hypersensitivity to or overdoses of drugs like sedatives, sleeping medicines, tranquilizers, anti-epileptics or miracle antibiotics of the streptomycin series such as are used so effectively in the treatment of infections like tuberculosis.

THEN, TOO, every once in a while, the whole mechanism goes haywire for a while in an attack of what's called Meniere's disease. Except for the mystery of Meniere's disease, your doctor's consultants will usually solve the problem of vertigo, tinnitus and ataxia.

Since the effectiveness of treatment may partially depend on early diagnosis, you'd better not neglect these symptoms for any considerable length of time.

For a copy of Dr. Hyman's leaflet, "What About Cancer," send 10 cents to Dr. Hyman, care of The Salem News, Box 489, Dept. B, Radio City Station, New York 19, N.Y.

Leader of Insurance Racket Sentenced

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Police C. Scott, 35, described by David as the ring leader of an insurance fraud scheme, was sentenced to two to 20 years in Ohio Penitentiary.

He had pleaded guilty to nine counts of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Prosecutor John Ballard says Scott, formerly in charge of the local office of an insurance firm, prepared 39 false claims over a five-year period.

In an investigation which began last winter, police have made 14 arrests and Ballard estimates the fake claims totalled $220,000. Scott is the fifth to be sentenced, and drew the longest term.

DIES IN MASSILLON (AP)—Robert H. Hess, for 67 years with McLain Grocery Co. and president of that wholesale grocery firm from 1943 until last year, died today after a three-day illness. He was 85.
